HON. JUSTICE SCOTT TO MAKE INVESTIGATION

Of Charges of Misconduct Against Dr. Macauley. Committee Says Prima Facie Case is Now Made Out, But Does Not Consider it Council's Duty to Sit in Judgment

Moved by Ald. Gariepy, seconded by Ald. Manson:—

That the Hon. Mr. Justice Scott be and he is hereby requested to investigate the following charge of misconduct against Dr. M. W. Macauley, a member of the municipal council of the city of Edmonton, namely: That the said Macauley, being an alderman of the city of Edmonton, by stating to the medical health officer, of the city of Edmonton, that he had information to the effect that measles existed in three house of ill fame situated in the locality called Norwood, procured from the medical health officer a warrant dated the 27th June, 1907, under the provisions of the Public Health Act, authorizing the said Macauley to enter into three certain houses in Norwood for the purpose of investigating whether or not infectious disease existed therein; that under color of the said warrant the said Macauley entered into seven houses of ill fame, some of which were not situated within Norwood, and, by representations to the effect that he had been specially sent by the authority of the municipality to examine the inmates for venereal disease, compelled a large number of the inmates of the said houses to submit unwillingy to examination by him for venereal disease, and made such examination in an improper manner and while he was intoxicated, and also demanded and received payment from such inmates for his services in examining them; and that the said Macauley in order to appear to possess the authority to enter into houses not situate in Norwood, altered the wording of the said warrant by inserting therein words indicating that his authority extended to houses situated in the north, east and west portions of the city and by striking out the word three which appeared therein.

And that the city solicitor be retained to represent the city in this investigation.

The Committee's Report.

This motion was passed at the meeting of the city council Thursday evening as a result of the following report from the special committee composed of Ald. Gariepy, Manson and Picard, appointed to consider the report of the medical health officer containing the charges against Ald. Macauley.

The committee beg to report as follows: The said report of Dr. Ternan contains charges of a very serious nature against Ald. Macauley. We did not deem it our businss to decide whether these charges are absolutely well founded or not. We did not sit as a judge or jury bound to pass on the guilt or innocence of an accused; and Ald. Macauley was not present nor was he represented at our deliberations, which were strictly private.

We have understood our duty to be to inquire as to whether or not the charges as made deserve a careful investigation. Although the charges are of such a character that they cannot pass unnoticed, we were to see if the facts leading to said complaints are sufficient to warrant the same, and if Dr. Ternan's report is at all justifiable. In other words, we have understood the task of this committee to be to examine and decide whether or not there is a prima facie case made out in this matter against Ald. Macauley.

We made a careful perusal of the report of Dr. Ternan in this matter, and also read the report of Detective Griffith in connection with this matter; we also had the benefit of the verbal explanations of both Dr. Ternan and Detective Griffith.

Without fear or favor and regretting that a fellow member of this council is connected with this case, the unanimous opinion of this committee is that a prima facie case is made out against Dr. Macauley. Unless the facts brought to our knowledge are disproved by Dr. Macauley, this is a case of misconduct derogatory to all rules of honor, good citizenship and proper exercise of a profession.

In justice to Dr. Macauley and to save the good reputation of this council and this city, we submit that this matter should be referred to a judge for complete inquiry.

The Effect of the Report.

Both the report of the committee and the motion arising from the report were passed without comment. Ald. Macauley, who was present, did not make any statement.

The effect of the report is to take the investigation out of the hands of the council, insofar as adjudging Ald. Macauley guilty or innocent of the charges preferred against him, and to formally request a judge to make the investigation.

HUGE TRAFFIC IN JAPANESE GIRLS

Protest Against it Made by Expulsion League.--Regularly Conducted Business

Washington, D.C., July 11—A vigorous protest has been received by the United States government from the Japanese and Korean Expulsion league, the headquarters of which are at Seattle, against what is asserted to be an organized traffic in Japanese women. It is alleged Japanese women are being brought to the United States in large numbers for immoral purposes.

The protest declares that wholesale misrepresentation, perjury and fraud are perpetrated on the part of immigrants and perjury and collusion on the part of the Japanese residents in the United States. It is stated that the traffic is regularly organized and that women are brought into the country and sold into a system of slavery. In connection with the traffic there is said to exist a gang of blackmailers composed of Japanese, who live on "hush money," collected from the importers of the Japanese slave girls.

It is asserted by the officers of the league that hundreds of these women are scattered among the cities of the Northwest and in the logging and mining camps, and that they are drifting gradually to cities throughout the country. The protest will be brought to the attention of the immigration authorities.

New Mayor On Witness Stand.

San Francisco, July 11.—Dr. Chas. Boxton, temporarily mayor of San Francisco, while on the witness stand to-day, testified concerning his alleged bribery by Theodore V. Halsey, indicted agent of the Pacific States Telephone Co. Boxton said he paid him $5,000, mostly in $100 bills, for having voted and used his influence as a supervisor against a rival franchise being granted the Home Telephone Co.

The only important question asked of Boxton in cross-examination before he was excused, brought out the fact that the caucus at which a majority of eighteen supervisors decided to abandon the Pacific States Telephone Co., by which, according to their confessions to the grand jury, they had been bribed to vote a franchise to the Home Co., was held in the office of Mayor Schmitz on the Sunday evening preceding February 26th, 1906.

Prominent Kenora Citizen Dies.

Kenora, July 12.—Jacob Hose, one of the oldest residents in Kenora and a most respected citizen, died suddenly shortly after midnight this morning. He was on the lake last evening in his gasoline launch, and returned apparently in good health, retiring to bed early. About midnight he asked his wife to send for the doctor, who was immediately summoned. Before medical aid arrived he had expired. The deceased was fifty-six years of age, and was senior partner in the firm of Hose & Canniff, hardware merchants, being in business here since 1881.

Approve Direct Taxation.

Paris, July 11—The chamber of deputies today accepted the proposition to maintain during the year 1908 the present four categories of direct taxation, thus officially recognizing that the income tax project, the discussion of which goes over until next winter, cannot go into effect next year. COBALT MINERS REFUSE TO RETURN

To Work, and Will Fight Mine Owners to a Finish They Say

Cobalt, July 11.—The striking miners have turned down a proposition of F. A. Ackland, secretary of the department of labor at Ottawa, to apply for a board of conciliation in accordance with the provision of the Lemieux bill, and involving the return to work pending settlement.

The secretary of the strike committee and Mr. Ackland were in conference for some time last evening, and later the proposal was made to a largely attended meeting of miners. In no uncertain manner they expressed their disapproval.

The striking miners, though undemonstrative, are exceedingly active in adopting every legitimate means to strengthen their position. They declare that every mine in the district is shut down save the Foster, in which the union scale of wages is being paid.

The organization under the Western Federation is such that it involves every class of labor in connection with the mines, and the men say that if necessary they will prevent the shipment of ore to the smelters by calling out the teamsters. In that event the Foster, Coinages and La rose would be chiefly affected.

Organizer Roadhouse stated to-day that one year ago the local union had a membership of 1,000 men, while since the strike this number had grown to about 3,000. The men state that so far as they are concerned, it will be a fight to the finish, but that in accordance with a resolution adopted on Sunday they would conduct the strike in a thoroughly peaceful manner.

TEACHERS AIM AT HIGHER WORK

American Association Seeks Better Moral Teaching in the Schools

Los Angeles, July 11.—Among the important matters upon which the council of the National Education association took action to-day was that of authorizing the appointment of a committee of five with Wm. T. Harris, of Washington, D.C., as its chairman, to work for an International Association of Educational Workers, to promote education and consider the problems confronting it; the appropriation of money for the use of committees, investigating the shortage of teachers, the establishment of a national feedral university at Washington, D.C., and to ascertain the best way of teaching morals in public schools. The board of directors voted to resume the spelling of the words "through, though and thorough," in the standard styles.

The Mrs. Eddy Case.

Concord, N.H., July 11—A lengthy list of exceptions to the rulings of Judge Chamberlain, of the Superior Court, in the suit for an accounting of the property of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, the Christian Scientist leader, was filed with the clerk of the superior court here late today by Streeter & Hollis, attorneys for Mrs. Eddy and for Henry M. Baker, Archigald McLellan and Josiah E. Fernald, the three trustees chosen by Mrs. Eddy to care for her property. It is expected that eventually the case will go to the Supreme Court of New Hampshire on these exceptions.

PLASTERERS STILL OUT.

The plasterers of the city are still out as the result of the refusal of the employers to increase the rate per hour from 60 to 65 cents. There is considerable delay in the building work around the city as the result of the tie-up.

HAYWOOD GOES ON THE STAND

In His Own Defense and Gives the Lie to Orchard's Testimony

Boise, Idaho, July 11—Wm. D. Haywood took the oath today as a witness in his own defense, and in a lengthy narrative of his life and work as a leader of his fellow miners which was interrupted by adjournment, denied his guilt of the murder of Frank Stuenenberg and the manifold crimes charged against him by Orchard. Haywood was pale and trembled with nervousness when he left the table of his counsel for the witness stand. When he began to respond to Clarence Darrow's questions, his voice was low and somewhat uncertain, but within ten minutes he had regained his composure and for the rest of the afternoon he was master of himself. When he told of his boyhood, which began with toil at the age of nine, and gave the history of his family, his invalid wife who sat just to the left of the witness stand, began sobbing softly. Her mother and her nurse soon comforted her, however, and during the rest of the afternoon she, and the rest of the Haywood kinsfolk were quiet but deeply concerned auditors.

His Positive Denials.

Haywood's direct testimony today was characterized chiefly because of positive denials of allegations made against him by the prosecution. He denied that he met Orchard until some time after the Vindicator mine explosion; denied that he sent Orchard back to Cripple Creek to blow up the Independence Station; denied participation in the murder of Detective Lytt Gregor and denied suggesting or discussing the Stuenenberg murder He swore that he never gave Orchard any money at any time or any place, for any purpose. He declared that he never made a threat against Stuenenberg, whom he regarded only as a politician swayed by capitalistic influence.

He related a number of occasions when he met Orchard in Denver in the ordinary course of his relations with the Federation and George A. Pettibone, and said he saw Orchard for the last time in August, 1905, when Orchard told him he was going to Alaska. Haywood said he then chided Orchard for deserting his wife at Cripple Creek.

The direct examination has not reached the connection of Jack Simpkins with the Federation and the action of the Federation after Stuenenberg was murdered when court adjourned.

Why Did Federation Do This?

The state completed the cross-examination of Chas. H. Moyer at noon and in dealing with his testimony directed its strongest attack against the circumstances under which the Federation, at Simpkins' suggestion, came to the relief of Orchard when he was arrested for the killing of Stuenenberg. Senator Borah, who conducted the examination, emphasized the relations of Simpkins with the Federation and the fact that the Federation without inquiry as to the guilt or innocence of Orchard, furnished $1,500 from its treasury for his defense. He also developed the fact that the Federation is providing for the defense of Steve Adams, who is charged with killing two claim jumpers, at the instigation of Simpkins.

Federation Workings.

Haywood became a member of the executive board of the Western Federation of Miners in 1900, holding that position until June, 1901, when he was elected secretary-treasurer, an office which he still nominally fills. His salary is $150 a month. Asked if the Federation employed attorneys, Haywood declared that at times he had as high as twenty-two attorneys on the pay roll. Its growth had been steady ever since that time, with the exception of the Cripple Creek year, when there was a temporary loss of some 3,000 members. The Federation, according to Haywood, has always taken an active interest in politics, one of its objects being to elect its friends and defeat its enemies. It has also taken a deep interest in labor measures affecting all classes of workingmen. An eight hour day law as applied to miners has been secured in nearly every state where the Federation is organized. In some cases it became necessary to amend state constitutions before the eight hour statue could be effective.

Executive Has the Power.

Senator Borah, in his cross exaination of Moyer, first inquired as to where the real power of the organization between conventions existed. Moyer said it rested in the executive board, the president and secretary-treasurer. He had been an active or ex-officio member of the executive board since 1899. He said he was living at Deadwood, S.D., during the Coeur de Alenes troubles of 1899, but became acquainted with many of the members from that district at the Salt Lake convention of that year. He also learned of Governor Stuenenberg's part in the strike. Jack Simpkins was one of the men Moyer met at the convention. Senator Borah questioned the witness closely as to the extent of the rule of the Federation to defend any of its members accused of crime. Moyer declared that no man was defended unless the executive board decided his arrest had some connection with the Western Federation of Miners.

"If a member of the Federation should kill a man on the streets of Boise you would not defend him unless you felt the Federation was in some way involved in the affair?" suggested Borah.

"That is my understanding. We would defend any one whose act grew out of a strike or whose arrest we felt was due to his connection with the Western Federation of Miners."

"You don't hold it out as an inducement to members that the Federation will defend them for any crime committed, do you?"

"No, sir."

Senator Borah next inquired as to Pettibone's relations to the Western Federation of Miners. Pettibone was not an active member, but when his business permitted, would attend the conventions and would come to headquarters. He was a good friend of the organization and ready to assist it in any way he could. He has often bought furniture and other supplies for the organization and for its members.

AN IMAGINARY BOUNDARY LINE

U. S. Secretary of Commerce Says Feeling Between Canada and U. S. Sisterly

Winnipeg, July 11.—Hon. Oscar S. Strauss, secretary of commerce and labor in the cabinet of President Roosevelt is in Winnipeg en route to Hawaii.

"This is my first trip through Canada," said Mr. Strauss," in an interview with the Free Press, "and I am greatly impressed with what I must regard as merely the beginning of a wonderful development. You are getting a fine class of immigrants—that is a subject in which I am especially interested—you have magnificent land and natural resources. You have, too, the hereditary instinct for self government and the wisdom which usually characterizes the British colonial policy to assist you. As an American I am heartily gratified at the evidence which I have seen on every hand of Canada's prosperity and I am sure that as she grows in wealth and population she will become a still more important and affectionate sister of the republic."

Mr. Strauss was told that there had been Fourth of July celebrations in many Canadian towns and he laughed heartily at this evidence of advanced sisterhood. "But that is all right," he said, "we have banquets in New York on the late Queen's birthday."

The Imaginary Boundary.

"Do you know," added the speaker, "that it is difficult for an American visitor in Canada to realize that he is in a foreign country The boundary between the two peoples is only imaginary, too. The northern part of this hemisphere is in your keeping and ours, and it is in good hands. No countries in the world promote, respect and guard the liberty of the individual so effectively as Great Britain and the United States. It is in these countries that parliamentary government has reached its highest development and whatever evil may intrude we will learn, even if we don't already know, how to correct."

Mr. Strauss declined to say anything about the possibility of a third term for President Roosevelt, but was enthusiastic in his references to the president as a man who enjoyed the affection and confidence not only of the American people, regardless of party, but of foreign nations as well.

HE DOES'NT LIKE THE EXPRESSION

McBride, of B. C. Disclaims Use of "Breakfast to Perdition" Expression Attributed Him

Winnipeg, July 11.—Premier McBride, of British Columbia, passed through the city to-day on his way back from London. He disclaimed vigorously the use of expressions which have been attributed to him by eastern papers. The disclaimer referred only to the terms employed, however, and not to any of the sentiments expressed.

The particular expression to which exception was taken was that which represented the premier as saying that he would continue his contention with the Dominion administration "from breakfast to perdition."

Entrance Into Federal Politics.

"I have been constantly asked regarding the possibility of my entrance into the politics of the Dominion," he said. "In reply, I have said that the question of my entrance there has never been raised. It is a possibility that has not been considered. With reference to the future, I would say that its contingencies will require to be dealt with as they arise. I will say this, however, that leaders in Dominion politics have been active in the affairs of the province of British Columbia, and it is only netural to expect that in return we might take an active part in the politics of the Dominion."

His Forecast of Elections.

"You are reported to have stated that the Conservatives would carry the west at the next election?" he was asked.

In replying to this question, Mr. McBride referred to the fact that there was and always had been a very large number of independent voters in the Dominion, and that it was this class of voters who decided elections. The number of independent men was not necessarily increasing, but they were always the deciding factor. If this class of people desired a change in the administration, either in British Columbia or in the Dominion, they would get it very quickly.

"In reference to the province as a whole, I would say that it was never more prosperous. It shares in the advancement and prosperity common to all of Canada. We will naturally have very large responsibilities laid upon us in connection with the development of the northern portion of the province, which is to be opened up through the building of the G. T. P. "We will be called to open new roads, build the schools, administer justice and carry forward the various work of government in an immense new district.

"You may not be aware that the province has the finest roads in the Dominion, and that we have nine thousand miles of trails to maintain. We require to spend millions of dollars in northern British Columbia in opening up and developing that portion of the province. The fact that we will be called on to make these large expenditures explains the strenuous efforts which we have been making to secure better terms from the Dominion government."

POST OFFICE SHOWS THE DEVELOPMENT OF CITY.

The increase in work at the post office this year is very clearly indicated by the comparative statistics of the work done in the month of June in 1906 and 1907, which are as follows:

June, 1906.
Stamp sales..	$ 2,717.00
Money Orders issued.. ..	11,468.36
Postal Notes Sold..	1,175.00
Money Orders Paid	$12,241.99
Postal notes Paid	1,281.17
June, 1907.
Stamp sales	$ 4,329.00
Money orders issued	17,726.98
Postal notes sold	3,199.16
Money orders paid	17,051.38
Postal notes paid	2,496.53

A year ago eleven clerks were employed in the post office to get through the work. This year, in the new building and under the reorganized system, seventeen clerks are able to do increased work satisfactorily. The letter carrier system has not as yet relieved the general delivery clerks of much of their work, for people continue to come to the wickets asking for their mail. The large number of transients in the city this summer causes the delivery to be much increased also.

CALGARY DREAMS OF MAMMOTH UNIVERSITY

Embracing Alberta, Saskatchewan and British Columbia.--Albertan Declares Provincial University Must Be Primitive in Character.--Suggests Bigger Project

Bulletin Special.

Calgary, July 12.—The Albertan published the following story this morning:

"Some of the leading educationists of Western Canada have started a movement which may result in a great university for Western Canada, to rival the great universities of Canada which now exist such as Toronto, McGill and Queen's. The movement has just begun to take head, and it is understood that representations have already been made to some members of the government of Alberta, and that the matter will be brought before Premier Rutherford on his return. It will also be brought before the governments of Saskatchewan and British Columbia at an early date.

Provincial Institutions Primitive.

"It has been realized for some time that, for years to come at least, universities in the seperate western provinces would be of a very primitive kind. A University of Alberta would have but little standing and be but little more than a big high school without any standing in educational circles.

"British Columbia has practically taken no steps in the formation of a university and Saskatchewan has not gone as far as Alberta. The suggestion is that the three provinces should unite in making a western educational institution of some importance. An institution with three such provinces at the back of it would be a prosperous and very important one from the very beginning. To arrange for such an institution would be a matter of detail, which would not be of a very difficult nature to adjust.

Rises Above Differences.

"The matter has been received with the utmost enthusiasm among all to whom it has been referred. It is recognized as being a large project rising above all petty matters which affect small universities, such as locality, sectionalism and party politics. It could be kept out of party and out of sectionalism, which are death to smaller institutions yet which always threaten them.

"It is further pointed out that affiliated institutions would be necessary, such as colleges of agriculture, colleges of mines and other local institutions of such nature, which could be located in the different provinces.

Smaller Colleges to Affiliate.

"A university of this kind would be of special advantage to the professions, such as medicine and applied science. While degrees from smaller institutions would be of small value, degrees from an institution such as this would be of enormous value.

"Representations will be made at an early date for co-operation among the provinces. It is believed that Saskatchewan will be anxious to unite with Alberta in a proposition of this kind; that Alberta will recognize the advantages to be derived from it, and that British Columbia can be induced to unite in such a big statesmanlike policy concerning education."

Deputy Minister Mackenzie, when asked by the Bulletin if the Education Department had been communicated with in regard to this pipedream of the Calgary Albertan, replied briefly and to the point:

"The Department of Education here has heard nothing of the project which you state is outlined in today's Albertan. Provided the three provinces should consider establishing one big university at a central point for all three, which should be on a railway line, it does not take long to discover where that point would of necessity be."

STEAM PLOW STRUCK

By Lightning Near Moose Jaw—Torrential Rainfall.

Moose Jaw, July 11.—During a sharp electrical storm between 4 and 5 o'clock this afternoon, lightning struck a steam plowing outfit working on the farm of Thos. Battell, three miles northwest of the city. Engineer Lowes and his assistant were stunned. Lowes soon recovered from the shock, but his assistant was unconscious for some hours, until restored by Dr. J. W. McCulloch. Rain fell in torrents over a large section, and will do much good to the crops, which would have suffered somewhat if the hot weather had continued without rain.

ANOTHER FARM IN SASKATCHEWAN

Dr. Saunders Inspects North Saskatchewan to Select Site for Second Farm

Prince Albert, Sask., July 11—Dr. W. Saunders, director of experimental farms, Ottawa, and Mr. Angus Mackay, superintendent of the Indian Head experimental farm, arrived at Prince Albert tonight on a visit of inspection with reference to the establishment of an experimental farm in the northern portion of the Saskatchewan wheat belt.

Dr. Saunders said the location of the farm had not yet been decided upon and the purpose of this visit was to inspect a number of sites which have been represented as suitable, and to report to the minister of agriculture in order that he may decide where the farm shall be located.

Will Visit Many Points.

Prince Albert was visited for the same purpose last year, but it was thought desirable for Dr. Saunders and Mr. Mackay to look over the ground in this vicinity again. They will also visit Tysdale, Duck Lake, Rosthern and Battleford before returning. Dr. Saunders and Mr. Mackay have come at a favorable time to see the wonderful growth of vegetables in this part of the province. Wheat is heading out on a number of farms; hay is almost ready to cut, and peas and potatoes are in flower.

Constitutional Government for China.

Pekin, July 11—Important edicts have been issued ordering reforms in the provincial judicial system and establishing police and modern courts of law in the provinces. The changes will be introduced in Manchuria and in the provinces of Chili Li and Kiang Su. The officials and people are also called upon to prepare for the adoption of a constitutional form of government.

Died From Burns.

Rochester, N.Y., July 11.—Smelling smoke in her home early to-day, Mrs. Frank Ford, residing on the Chili Road, near Rochester, rushed to the kitchen and found her husband with his clothing and beard on fire. In attempting to quench the blaze he had caught fire and was seriously burned before being discovered. He died to-day in a Rochester hospital. The house was totally destroyed, the women and several children escaped uninjured.

STRATHCONA NEWS

LOCALS.

Building permits were taken out yesterday by Jos. Beauchamp for a $13,000 three storey addition to the Strathcona house, and by A. G. Gainer for a $1,300 dwelling on lots 7 and 8, block 110.

The corner stone of the new Methodist church will be laid next Tuesday afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock. Rev. T. C. Buchanan, Calgary, president of missions, will lay the stone, and Rev. Dr. Riddell, president of Alberta conference, will assist.

The marriage took place at the home of the bride's father, Archie Carrothers, Edmonton, on Wednesday of Miss Bertha Mabel Carrothers and Arthur George Webster. The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. J. Johnston. Both parties are former residents of Strathcona.

A very enjoyable kitchen shower was held last night at the home of Rev. Mr. Bowen, the new pastor of the Baptist church. There were about sixty people present, each of whom contributed to the utensils in ordinary kitchen use. An enjoyable program was also given with Mr. Angus Currie presiding and refreshments were served.

Owing to the rain last night a second postponement was made of the lacrosse match between Edmonton and Strathcona at the grounds of the latter. Owing to a misunderstanding it was assumed by the Strathcona team that the game would take place and as a result a large number of people went to the ground but the Capitals failed to put in an appearance. No date has yet been arranged for the game.

Strathcona station was unusually animated this morning. The Edmonton and Strathcona Orangemen with fife and drum and the Strathcona band, awaiting the special train to leave at 9.30 for Wetaskiwin, filled the platform and with the usual crowd attendant on the departure of the regular train at 9 o'clock, made a very large gathering.

On Saturday afternoon the painters of the city will play a team made up of the remaining cricketers. Wickets will be pitched at 2.30 p.m. Painters: S. Judge, W. H. McMahon, J. Spilsted, Chas. Spilsted, B. Ellis, C. Westerby, E. Milnes, A. J. Smith, E. McLean, A. J. Wilson, R. Lamb, J. Woodman and Potts Newman. The rest: R. H. Darke, F. E. Holloway, W. H. Adams, E. Downes, R. H. Palmer, A. G. Lucas, H. F. Sandeman, C. H. Fry, F. H. Moore, A. Jeffery, N. G. Boggs, Ben Wildman and Father Spilsted.

AUTO DRIVERS' SIGHT.

Test of This Advocated in Germany Before Granting License.

Berlin, July 11.—A strong plea for the institution of a sight test for motor car drivers is now being put forward in Germany where it has the support of most of the leading medical practitioners and high officials. It is pointed out by the promotors that a test of the sight is compulsory in the case of all railroad men, yet motor car chauffeurs are granted certificates after merely giving proof of their ability to manipulate a steering wheel and without any injury as to whether they are short-sighted or color-blind. It is considered highly probable that the authorities will adopt a regulation that no license to drive a motor car be granted unless the applicant has satisfied the sight test.

TRIAL OF PROF. CARL HAU.

On Charge of Murdering Mother-in-Law in Germany, Creating Interest.

Karlsrhue, Germany, July 11.—As the day set for the opening of the trial July 17, of Prof. Karl Hau, of George Washington university, Washington, D.C., approaches, the newspapers are beginning to show keen interest in the case, summarizing the evidence so far as known. In view of the fact that publications have contained numerous errors the states's attorney to-day published a statement making the case against the prisoner appear much stronger than hitherto.

One says Hau admits travelling Nov. 3, from London to Frankfort, disguised with a false beard, and also acknowledges having a second beard made at Frankfort with which he went to Baden Nov. 6, the day of the murder. Hau further admits telephoning to Frau Molitor, having previously hovered in the vicinity of her house, but he refuses to divulge the purpose of his disguise, and evades the crucial question as to whether he murdered his mother-in law, neither affirming nor denying the crime. But he admits he left Baden on the 6.30 p.m. train Nov. 6, for Frankfort, where he took the Osten express on his way to London. The state's attorney asserts that Frau Molitor left property valued at $250,000.

THE Penn Esther RANGE

burns either wood or coal with equal facility. The change in the Penn Esther from coal to wood may be made in thirty seconds. The only alteration necessary to burn wood consists in removing the lining of one end of the fire box and inserting a perforated, cast iron wood-grate, which is supplied free with all Penn Esther Ranges. When this end lining is removed, the Penn Esther will burn a stick of wood 24 inches long. The advantages of this are obvious in country sections where wood is extensively used for fuel.

PLEASANT SUNDAY SCHOOL

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Poucher and their daughter Marjorie leave next week for a trip to Winnipeg and other eastern points. Yesterday Mrs. Poucher was made the guest of her Sunday school class at a very pleasant picnic in a grove on the Groat estate. The little girls proved themselves capital hostesses, and an enjoyable time was spent.

Holidays on the Island.

Ottawa, July 11.—Hon. Frank Oliver and family left this afternoon for Prince Edward Island. The minister is accompanying his family to the Island, where they are to spend their holidays. He will return to Ottawa the beginning of next week.

OUR LITTLE ONES.

Two types of childhood seen within the past week—two distinctive and lovable types—recall one common interest of the motley west that exists, in spite of all diverity of race, aims or sentiments. It is the interest of the little ones.

Of the two types mentioned, one was a dainty little fairy, a flower of Eastern Canada's civilization—sensitive, impressionable and earnest. Her lithe little form seemed designed for play and romping among the prairie flowers she loved. Yet she fitted in happily, gently to the quiet afternoon spent with her elders in a cheery drawing-room while an electric storm broke over the valley. Life is to be made fairly easy for her, and under wise guidance the little one is destined to grow up a bonny western maid.

The other child was no less a blossom, but of more rugged growth—a sturdy Saxon boy just a few weeks away with his parents from their old home in Germany. He was at play outside the family tent by the immigration hall, a sturdy little chap with face and limbs and golden hair tanned brown, a pair of fearless blue eyes that looked out on this strange Canada with a hint of conquering it.

He had not lost his baby ways yet, nor the soft curve of a baby's mouth, but there was already about the attractive mannikin a veritable personality—a baby Viking ready to follow in the adventurous steps of his father, whose small counterpart he was.

In a few days the family will move out to a homestead in some out of the way place. And what will become of that superb bit of babyhood and his possibilities? Life has not many amenities on some homesteads. Fortunately the west is first and always generous in its provision for schools, and it may be that the almost penniless little emigrant baby, whose tongue trips over this strange Canadian word "good-bye" may outdistance in the race of life the sheltered little blossom of a good Canadian home.

There was promise of it in his sturdy way and fearless eyes and friendly interest in his Canadian visitor. Neither timidity nor aloofness hampered his radiant little personality.

RESIGNED.

"Who'd have thought we'd lived to see our boy a member of parliament?" said the old man.

"Nobody," said the old lady, but—the Lord's will be done."

JAPANESE DO NOT SEEK WAR

Slight Differences Magnified.—Trouble Due to Unwarranted Newspaper Agitation

New Yor, July 11.—Two distinguished Japanese, influential at home and respected abroad, took occasion today to declare in no uncertain terms that there were no unfriendly issues between the United States and Japan, and to decry the undue importance attributed by some to trivial incidents.

The champions of peace and friendship between the two countries were Admiral Baron Yamamoto, a guest of the city, and Viscount Aoki, the Japanese ambassador, who came from Washington this morning to attend the reception and luncheon given by the Japanese Society of America in honor of Admiral Yamamoto.

No Ill-Feeling Exists.

In the course of a formal statement, Ambassador Aoki said: "There exists between the countries no difference or ill-feeling of any sort whatsoever. There is not the slightest cause for anxiety in the American Japanese relations, and if there is any it is not because of the actual existence of any difficulty between the two countries, not because of the demagogic influence of some unwarranted press talk, that often tends to drive even the calmest temper of the public into a whirl of tempestuous rage."

Admiral Yamamoto Speaks.

Speaking at the luncheon at the Hotel Astor, Admiral Yamamoto said among other things:

"Our interests commercially and otherwise are so intimately interwoven and the cordial relations between us of fifty years standing are of so firm a nature, than I can confidently affirm that they will never be destroyed by mere trifling incidents.

"It is true that lately some darksome clouds did appear in one quarter of the sky, still [illegible] nothing but a local squall, and does not in any way represent the general state of the weather, and even this slight cloud will soon be dispelled."

"Men are essentially prone to be controlled by sentiments, and it is the duty of those in leading positions to see that they are always guided in the paths of righteousness, and that they are not led astray."

Newspapers Are Making War.

Expressions of international goodwill were made at the luncheon by Ambassador Aoki; Thomas J. O'Brien, the newly-appointed American ambassador to Japan; Rear-Admiral Coghlan; Rear-Admiral Robley D. Evans, commander of the Atlantic fleet, and others. Admiral Evans said that when the newspapers of this country stopped making war between Japan and the United States the people would come to their senses, and a better feeling would exist all round.

Visitors Enjoy Hospitality.

To-night R. C. McKinney gave a private dinner to Admiral Yamamoto at the Union League Club. Ambassador Aoki was among the guests. During the day the Japanese admiral and his retinue visited the Navy Yard, returning the calls made yesterday by Rear-Admiral Evans and other navy officials at the yard. They were given a cordial welcome and spent some time inspecting the different buildings and Admiral Evans' flagship, the "Connecticut."

No Japanese-American Situation.

New York, July 11.—Viscount Aoki, the Japanese ambassador, who was in New York to-day, to attend a reception in honor of Admiral Yamamoto, issued through his secretary a re-assertion of his previous declaration that there is no "Japanese-American situation," and that all the talk of trouble between the two nations is a phantom creation of irresponsible trouble-makers and trouble-hunters. If there be any cause for anxiety, he said it is due to the influence of unwarranted press talk.

Tokio, July 11.—The massing of the American fleet in the Pacific, about which American papers have applied to Marquis Ito for an opinion, is semi-officially discussed by Ito's administration organ today.

The paper says: "We cannot help feeling some misgiving with regard to the significance of the intended massing of American battleship in the Pacific, especially in view of the grandiose announcement attributed to President Roosevelt, to the effect that the navy would furnish the world with a startling demonstration of American defensive capacity. It is difficult for us to accept the assurance that the coming manoeuvres do not possess any connection whatever with the Japanese-American situation. We regret that Washington thinks it necessary to take what resembles a precautionary measure.

Believes Demonstration Friendly.

"However, we are not disposed to attach serious importance to this matter, and have no inclination to doubt the president's sincerity in assuring the peaceful nature of proposed manoeuvres. Neither have we the slightest doubt of the pacific and friendly sentiments of the American government. The people toward whom Japan believes blame is probably due are the irresponsible sections of both nations."

Ito declines discussion regarding the sensational agitation of the press. His sole comment on the probability of war is: "There is no feeling in my heart for this."

MONTREAL CREDIT GOOD IN ENGLAND

The City Obtains Large Lcan to Smooth Working of Civic Affairs

Montreal, July 11.—The city of Montreal has succeeded in obtaining twelve months loan of $2,000,000 at 4 1-2 per cent. The money was arranged for in England, through the Bank of Montreal, ad the rate of exchange being favorable last Friday the proceeds were transferred to this city at a profit.

Mr. Robb, the city treasurer, was very much pleased with the outcome of the negotiations. The city was able to sell its exchange at 3-32 over par, and as a result a profit of $500 to $600 was made on the transfer.

It was intende dto raise $5,000,000 for the usual 40 year period but owing to the condition of the money market the idea was abandoned. Out of the proceeds, the city retired $1,600,000, advances which had been obtained in anticipation of revenue, and has a comfortable working balance until Sept. when the taxes are due. The money will then be returned to the treasury and held for the purposes for which it is intended.

Financial and Commercial News

NEW YORK STOCKS.

New York, July 11.—Yesterday's upset of the campaign for the rise in stocks had the natural effect to-day of much curtailing of the volume of operations, and of begetting a cautious spirit in operating. In the latter part of the day the market was not more than nominal, and feeble fluctuations marked the indifference of the speculation. There was some attempt to revive interest in the campaign for the rise, and the early advance in prices was in response to these e:orts. The drop from the high point was rather sharp, and carried some of the prominent stocks to prices lower than at any time yet.

Further reading of the government's petition in the suit against the American Tobacco Company accentuated the unfavorable impression amongst security holders. The further proceedings against the Consolidated Gas Company was an added influence in the same direction. The securities of these companies were notably weak, and weakness at some other points was in sympathy. Second considerations of the government crop report, on the other hand, were more favorable than yesterday. Cheerful reports by the Price Current helped to this feeling. The Japanese question receded somewhat, in spite of the reported writing of war risks by Lloyds on ships bound for Manila. Anxiety for the stability of the copper market was in evidence. The uncertain fluctuations of the latter part of the day left prices generally lower than last night. Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $1,089,000. U. S. Bonds were unchanged on call.

NEW YORK WHEAT.

New York, July 11.—Wheat receipts, 35,000; exports, 7,994; sales, 2,300,000; futures, 20,000 spot. A break of two cents per bushel took place in wheat to-day following heavy liquidation induced by improved northwest weather, poor cables and reports of increased new wheat offerings. Export rumors and bullish Russian crop news caused a slight rally later, but the close was at bottom, and 2 1-8 to 2 1-2 under last night. July, 98 1-4 to 100 3-16; close 98 1-4; Sept., 100 1-16 to 101 13-16; close, 100 1-8; Dec., 104 1-4 to 104 7-8; close, 103 1-4.

NEW YORK MONEY.

New York, July 11.—Close, prime mercantile paper, 5 1-2 to 6 per cent.; sterling exchange soft, with actual business in bankers' bills at 486.55 to 486.60 for demand and at $483.30 to $483.35 for sixty day bills. Posted rates, 484 and 487 1-2; commercial bills, 483 to 483 1-8; bar silver, 67 3-8; Mexican dollars, 52 3-8; government bonds steady; railway bonds irregular.

Money on call, strong; highest, 7 1-2 per cent.; lowest, 4 1-2; last loan, 3; closing bid, 2 1-2; offered at 3. Time loans steady; sixty days, 5 1-2 per cent.; and ninety days, 5 to 5 1-2 per cent.; six months, 6 per cent.

NEW YORK MISCELLANEOUS.

New York, July 11.—Molasses steady; pig iron, quiet; northern, $22.75 to $23.90; copper unsettled; lead dull; tin dull; straights, $40.85 to $41.40; spelter dull.

BOSTON COPPER.

Boston, Mass., July 11.—Amalgamated was active to-day, but other copper stocks were easy. The close was heavy, a final drop carrying prices to the lowest.

Calgary Bank Clearings.

Calgary, July 12.—The bank clearings for Calgary for the past week amounted to $1,628,044.

Winnipeg Bank Clearings.

Winnipeg, July 11.—Bank clearings for the week ending to-day were $13,744,547, as compared with $10,720,948 for the same week in 1906.

Chicago Gets Conclave.

Saratoga, N.Y., July 11.—The grand encampment of Knights Templar voted to-day to hold its next triennial conclave in Chicago in 1910.

Two Cent Rate Must Hold.

Desmoines, Ia., July 11.—Judge McPherson, of the Federal Court to-day denied the application of two stock holders of the Iowa Central, the Minneapolis and St. Louis Railway for an order restraining the directors of the roads from putting into effect the two cent passenger rate.

To Reduce Express Rates.

Omaha, Neb., July 11.—Judge Munger, in the Federal Court to-day, refused the Adams, Wells-Fargo, American United States, and Pacific Express companies, an order restraining the Nebraska Railroad Commission and the Nebraska attorney-general from putting in effect new laws, reducing express rates in this state 25 per cent. Judge Munger, however, ordered the state railroad commission to appear next Saturday and show cause why the injunction should not be granted.

You will count no convivial occasion complete without this pure charged water, once you discover the zest it adds to spirits and its thirst-quenching qualities. We vouch for its absolute excellence, even compared with the few imported waters which are nearly as good. Of course, you can pay more for them if you see fit, but—why should you?

THE CANADIAN WORKING MAN AND THE MONEY STRINGENCY

So far, at any rate, the money stringency has not pressed unduly on the working man, and the inconveniences it has created have been as yet pretty much confined to those whose business it is to besiege the money-lenders for the wherewithal to carry on large enterprises of public and private nature.

In the causes that have led up to the shortage of accumulated money the wage-earner has been a winner instead of a loser. Prosperity means investment and expenditure, and in this expenditure the wage-earner finds his opportunity. This is what enables him to feel prosperity in his pocket and does away with the necessity of telling him that he is prosperous and trying to prove it to him by statistics.

While contemplated projects here and there have been postponed owing to scarcity of funds, there has been no cessation generally of work actually begun, nor any shrinkage of wages. The results of the stringency have been noticed almost exclusively in the proposed enterprises that have been put off till next year, and not in any suspension of actual undertakings.

And so enormous is the development work already under way in Canada, that should a period of general retrenchment be necessary the working-man will have ample employment and good wages for many years to come. The problem before the country is to obtain men to carry on the work already in hand; this problem cannot in the nature of things be solved for years, and while it remains the laborer is assured of both labor and wages.

The construction of the National Transcontinental has been and is today being delayed for want of laborers, and the company are said to be looking abroad for the workers who cannot be found at home. The completion of this line from ocean to ocean is almost certain to occupy from three to four years more, largely due to the fact that a sufficient number of men cannot be found to complete it more quickly.

Work on the C. P. R. short line from Winnipeg to Edmonton is understood to be similarly handicapped and all efficient workers offering are taken on. There is a pretty general opinion that this line will not stop at Edmonton, but will be pushed westward through the mountains to the Pacific. If so, this means another enormous demand for labor during the coming three or four years.

The Canadian Northern is an important factor in the labor market too. At present the company are resting from their constructive labors and concentrating their forces on the betterment of their roadbed. This in itself offers employment to an army of men. And when the company resumes construction westward and northward next season their demands will be doubled and trebled.

The construction of the Hudson Bay railway, 480 miles in length though overshadowed by some of the enormous enterprises now under way is in itself an undertaking of very large proportions, and will call for the employment of thousands of men.

But the need of workmen will not cease when these lines are constructed. The men who build a railway are thereby creating an enormous source of employment for all time to come. The roads must be manned as well as built. Trackmen, telegraphers, agents, trainmen, mechanics and artizans of all classes will be required in hundreds to operate and maintain each of these new roads. It would probably not be exaggerating to say that the permanent force of employees on these lines will equal the number of men now actually engaged in their construction.

More than this, the construction of a railway is only the beginning of things for the working man. The building of a western road is only the means to an end—the end is the development of the country traversed. And the work of developing the country will be many times greater than that of constructing the roads. A new railway means new farms, new ranches, new towns, with all that these mean in the way of more employment for builders, laborers, mechanics, artizans and wage-earners of all classes.

There is no apparent likelihood of Canadian railway enterprises being held up or seriously retarded by the money stringency which affects the Dominion. Their resources are drawn from the old lands where capital is more plentiful and less in demand. And supposing a policy of reasonable retrenchment is undertaken along other lines until the railways are completed, the accumulation of capital in Canada should then be ample to provide for the development work for which the railroad opens the way. Canadian investments are yielding splendid returns; these returns only need husbanding for a few years until they themselves will constitute an immense sum for undertaking new enterprises.

There is, therefore, no reason to fear that the Canadian working-man will in any general or considerable degree feel the effects of the present money stringency. The construction of railways with British money will provide work and wages for thousands for years to come; and with the precaution Canadian investors are now beginning to show, the capital of this country should be sufficiently replenished by that time to continue the work of development, and hence the opportunity for the worker. It is doubtful if in any other country in the world the great army of working men of all classes and occupations have such an unclouded prospect as in Canada.

That this is so is directly attributable to the aggressive railway policy of the Canadian Government, the concrete result of which is to draw millions of British money into the pockets of the Canadian working-man at a time when Canadian funds for investment are very largely exhausted. If the present situation had not been foreseen, and the railway construction policy adopted, the Canadian working-man would have had a very real and personal knowledge of the meaning of "money stringency."

ON THE SIDE.

Calgary is taking the city census during fair week. That should help some.

The Calgary Herald has concluded the prospects are not rosy enough for a morning paper and has abandoned its morning edition.

John D. Rockefeller, says he knows nothing about the details of the Standard Oil Co. and its doings. John should read the magazines.

With secession in Rainy River, riots and wild cats in Cobalt and Minister of Mines Cochrane conducting a talkative expedition into Thunder Bay, Northern Ontario furnishes a pretty fair illustration of how to administer a new country to create excitement and gain experience.

"Send John D. Rockefeller and a dozen other trust magnates to prison for a long term of years, and one of the most vital questions before the people of this country will have been solved," declared William Jennings Bryan at a banquet. Mr. Bryan appears to be booming himself for another spectacular defeat.

MONEY AWAITING THE OWNERS

Are Canadians so prosperous that they are becoming careless with their money? Such is the query suggested by the annual statement of balances remaining unclaimed in Canadian banks.

On December 31st last there remained in various banks balances amounting to no less than $554,574.70, which had been awaiting the respective owners for five years or more. At the same date $25,481.10 in unpaid drafts and bills of exchange, and $3,417.16 unpaid dividends had been held for a similar period.

BAAL.

(Chicago Record Herald.)

Inaz Brombolillo was walking peaceably along the street. Somebody threw a giant cracker from a second story window. Result: The victim will probably lose the sight of both eyes.

We call this celebrating our independence.

Two-year-old Harry Kennedy was given a toy pistol to play with. He tried to bite one of the caps. It was a badly burned mouth and the hospital for him.

We are an enlightened people.

—May Cleary tried to dodge a firecracker that somebody threw at her. She fell and broke her leg.

Real civilization.

—Larkin Harrison, an old man, was struck in the face by a firecracker and badly burned while standing on a corner waiting for a Lake street car.

—Christ Raeperne was struck in the face by a firecracker thrown from a window and had face and eyes injured.

These are just samples of some of the things that happened to innocent bystanders in Chicago on the Fourth.

A dozen people were hit by stray bullets, some of them while in their own homes. Several fell from street cars or out of windows while trying to dodge firecrackers. At least half a peck of fingers were blown off as the result of carelessness in handling cannon crackers or firearms, and two of three whole hands and one ear were added for good measure.

It was a great and glorious day.

In Phoenicia and in Carthage where Baal was worshipped with human sacrifices the children who went into his fiery embrace at least gave their lives for an object deemed of the greatest importance by all the people.

Our victims give up their lives to mere folly and license.

If Baal could come around today and gaze upon the works of Uncle-Samuel-Fourth-of-July he would feel his iron vitals melt with shame, and he would admit that he was a very much antiquated, inferior, incompetent monster by comparison.

CATTLE TAKE TO THE WOODS BEFORE "HEEL" FLIES

This Pest is Responsible for Failure of Stock to Fatten Up in Lacombe District.--Crop Prospects Are Particularly Bright. Weather Perfect Since Seeding

Staff Correspondence.

Lacombe, July 11—Crop conditions and prospects in this district were never better. That is the universal verdict of every farmer and old timer you meet here. In truth it would be impossible to imagine better crops than what one sees travelling in any direction from this town. The oat crop promises in the majority of fields to produce a greater yield than ever before. Four miles southeast of the town at Greenbank farm, I saw a field of oats containing 50 acres which the owner was a better crop than what grew on a similar field last year from which he threshed 124 bushels to the acre all round. This field is an example of hundreds to be seen in a day's journey.

Weather Conditions Ideal.

The universal opinion of the farmers is that weather conditions since the grain was sown have been ideal and a bountiful harvest is now beyond any doubt. Such an assurance creates a greater feeling of pleasure and hope in the minds of the farmers this year than in any former year. The hard winter and late spring was discouraging to eves the old timer,and especially to the newcomer. But happily the "winter of their discontent is made glorious summer." A new confidence has seized them with almost the power of an inspiration. It is the inspiration of success that has become infectious.

The spring crops have long since covered the ground and in some fields the oats already are in the shot blade. A good portion of the fall wheat is headed out and is generally a fine, thick, even stand with no prospect of rust or insect pest. The long, bright days of sunshine and the clear, dry atmosphere of this country is not favorable to the prevalence and occurrence of plant parasites.

Stock Pested With Flies.

The grass crops, too, which mean so much to the live stock breeder and feeder, are splendid. Brome grass and timothy promises to yield as high as any former year. Wild hay and prairie grass are luxuriant, affording excellent pasturage. Cattlemen say, however, that thougr grass never was better, he cattle are not doing as well as they would if they were not pested with flies. Cattle went on the grass later this spring than usual and the flies have appeared unusually early in the season to such an extent that the cattle have left the open country and sought the protection of the scrub and timber. Drovers say it is impossible to drive cattle except early in the morning or late in the evening on account of the attacks of swarms of he "heel" fly. It is not known why this insect was called the heel fly. Some say it is because it stings the cattle on the heels, while others say it is because the cattle take to their heels as soon as they are bitten or stung.

Not Fleshing Up Well.

As a consequence cattle are not fleshing up as quickly as the producers desire. The fly season, however, is a short one and when it is over the cattle will quielky pick up.

The "heel fly" appeared in this country three years ago and is supposed to have been introduced from Mexico with the Mexican "doggies." They are very swift and voracious. They are somewhat larger than the common bol fly that attacks horses. They confine their attacks to bovine species entirely.—J.B.

CANADA OFFERS ECONOMIC MARVEL

Of Twentieth Century, Equalling Progress Made by Western States in Past Year

A couple of years ago it was a well-founded complaint of Canadians that American magazines, notwithstanding a large circulation in Canada, published so few articles concerning Canada or things Canadian. It is a fault that has been somewhat remedied this year. Articles on Canada have been numerous. This one from a late issue of Harper's Weekly is quite readable. It says:—

"The June number of the American Review of Reviews contains no fewer than four articles which, taken together, present a complete survey of the agricultural ,industrial and commercial capabilities of the Canadian Dominion, from the view-point of the latest statistics. The facts seem to justify the forecast that the development of Canada will constitute the most remarkable economic phenomenon of the twentieth century. Let us glance, for example, at the data concerning the agricultural possibilities of the northwestern provinces, and the mineral industries of the Dominion.

Transformation of the West.

"It is unquestionably true that the great colonizing achievement performed by the United States during the nineteenth century, to wit, the transformation of the west from a savage wilderness to a settled, orderly, prosperous, and populous community, is now being repeated north of the forty-ninth parallel by Canada. As recently as 1868 the Hudson's Bay company still ruled over a vast empire reaching from Labrador to the Pacific wherein commerce of all kinds, excepting the fur trade, was non-existant. A narrow belt of cultivated land along the rivers near Fort Garry raised sufficient food for the meagre population; the nearest railway was hundreds of miles to the south; and the great fertile plains of the far west were given up to the Indians, the buffalo, anod the fur traders. "

Increase of Population.

"Today, after the lapse of only three and a half decades, these vast plains of the west contain nearly a million inhabitants. In five years the population has doubled, and there is no room to doubt that the ratio of growth will be maintained for many years to come. The settlement of farming lands has been followed by a corresponding expansion of towns and cities. Winnipeg, which in 1871 was a little frontier outpost, contains, according to the municipal estimate of 1907, no fewer than 111,000 residents. In four years the annual Dominion revenues from customs, excise and post office receipts at this place have increased from $3,000,000 to $6,000,000, while the bank clearings have risen from a quarter of a billion to half a billion dollars. ,

Growth in Cities and Towns.

"Nor is Winnipeg the only considerable city in the prairie provinces. Both Calgary and Edmonton have good ground for looking forward to a population of one hundred thousand apiece in the course of a few years, while Regina (the capital of Saskatchewan), Moose Jaw, Saskatoon and Brandon are all certain to become large towns within another decade.

"Even more eloquent testimony to the progress of the Canadian northwest is furnished by the growing railway system. By the end of 1878 only sixty-four miles of railway track had been laid in that region. At present, there are in Western Canada no fewer than 4,400 miles of track operated by the Canadian Pacific railway, and 2,489 by its rival, the Canadian Northern railway. The new transcontinental railway, now being built by the Canadian government, the Grand Trunk Pacific, will begin to operate sections of its western line during the present season.

American Immigration Tenfold.

"It is further to be noted that as late as 1896 only 2,412 Americans emigrated to Canada. During the following ten years no fewer than 272,000 persons have left the United States to become residents of the northwest provinces. The spectacle has convinced the inhabitants of Quebec, Ontario and of the British Isles that if Western Canada is good enough for 'Yankees' it is good enough also for them. The result has been a steadily increasing immigration from the British Isles, unti lthe inflow from that quarter now exceeds, by many thousands a year, the arrivals from the United States. The Scandinavian, Teutonic and Slavic peoples likewise are strongly represented in Northwestern Canada.

Area of Country.

"In the ten year period from 1896 to 1906 there were 310,000 immigrants from Great Britain, and 248,000 from non-English speaking countries, chiefly those belonging to continental Europe. The significance of the fact that the three provinces, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, have together an area of some 550,000 square miles is scarcely appreciated until we call to mind that they represent a territory as large as the thirteenth original states of the American union, plus the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. For 846 miles these provinces abut on the American border, and they run thence northward from 300 to 500 miles. Nor is it probable that anywhere on the earth's surface is there a superficies of equal extent which possesses a higher percentage of tillable soil. Wheat is, of course, the staple product of the Canadian northwest, and there is no beter test of fertility.

Grain Yield in West.

"Reviewing the official returns for the three prairie provinces above named, for eight years (1898-1905), Mr. John W. Dafoe, editor of the Manitoba Free Press, finds that there was an average yield of 19.73 bushels per acre, which, for land cropped year after year, without any resort to fertilizers, is an uncommonly high rate. The official average of Minnesota during the last census period was but 14.2 bushels per acre, and that for Iowa only 14.7 per acre. In 1905 no fewer than 3,849,000 acres in Western Canada were sown to wheat, and the yield was 83,500,000 bushels, an average for that year of over 21 bushels to the acre. The output last year was much larger. To handle this enormous quantity of wheat there are 1,015 interior elevators with a storage capacity of 27,083,000 bushels and ten terminal elevators which can hold 18,200,000 bushels. In addition there are 93 three-roller flour mills able to turn out 18,500 barrels a day. We should add that the yearly output of cattle shows a growth in keeping with the general advance of the country. Last year no fewer than 155,000 head of cattle came into Winnipeg from the Canadian northwest, of which 85,000 went forward to the British market."

Orangemen Will Not Parade.

Ottawa, July 12.—There will be no Orange parade in Buckingham to-day. The Buckingham Orangemen say that they had not made any arrangements for a meeting or a parade, but they do not see any reason why they should not have both if they so desire it. At any rate there is to be no parade.

New Control In Insurance Company.

Ottawa, July 12.—A controlling interest in the Ottawa Fire Insurance Co. has passed into the hands of Burnett, Ormsby & Clapp, a firm of Toronto insurance brokers, who are believed to have been buying for themselves and for other parties.

GOVERNMENT'S CANAL POLICY

Hon. Rodolph Lemieux Says Georgian Bay Canal is Coming Nearer

Ottawa, July 11.—At Kirkfield the big lift lock on the Trent Valley canal has been officially opened. By the completion of this work an eight-foot water way will connect the towns of Orillia and Barrie with Lindsay, Peterboro and other points, making a thousand mile route for steamers through a populous part of the province. Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux was the principal speaker at the opening. Mr. Lemieux, after reviewing the history of canal building on this and the European continent, said that the Trent Valley canal system was commenced in 1837. Had the same energy been applied to it in the past as has been the case during the past ten years it would have been constructed a decade earlier.

St. Lawrence System.

The St. Lawrence system gave a stretch of navigation of 1,225 miles from Montreal to the head of Lake Superior. Besides this great waterway there were the Ottawa, the Rideau and the Richelieu canals. The Trent canal when completed would give a waterway of 200 miles, furnishing a second great channel for the trade of the west. Mr. Lemieux predicted the completion of the canal at an early date.

Outlet for Western Products.

He spoke of the abolition of tolls on all the canals by the present government, and said that the product of the great Canadian west would pour down in ever increasing volume through these waterways to the ocean and the motherland, while in return Ontario and Quebec would send westward their manufactures to an expanding and profitable market. The Georgian Bay canal was coming nearer and nearer, Canada was reaching a position when it would be prepared to undertake even that gigantic work, and those who are now middle-aged men may live to see the day when the steamers from Liverpool will take their cargoes straight from Port Arthur to Liverpool and Glasgow.

Needs of The West.

Every new avenue of transportation would be needed for the west. Canada's supremacy on the great lakes was the very life blood to her and was an ambition worthy of the country's best energies. The development of the canal system would help to counterbalance the increased cost of living, "and such incidents as they were celebrating," said Mr. Lemieux, "were the making of Canada." Is it not better that we should be bending our energies and using our resources for such purposes than exhausting ourselves in the vain pomp of the militarism that presses so mercilessly on the people of Europe, yet we hear now and then far aawy echoes of that militarism in our land and dim shadows of the armed camps that control the destinies of older nations. Let us have none of it in Canada, but continue the practice of the arts of peace. Let conciliation be the watchword of the twentieth century."

In conclusion, Mr. Lemieux said that the best imperialism was attained in the promotion of such works as they were then engaged in.

HAVE NOW TAKEN FOUR IN A ROW

Legislators Put it on Lethbridge by Score of 7 - 6.--Win in the Fifth

Lethbridge, July 11.--Edmonton defeated the locals to-night in a close and exciting game. It was a one run margin game the score being 7 to 6. Blexrud pitched splendidly, striking out ten men but was hit hard in the fourth when the Miners made 5 runs. Nunsie made a double when the bases were full bringing in everybody. Kippert was on the mound but in the fifth was relieved by Schurch. In this innings the Eskimos made 4 runs, tieing the score. Baker hit to centre; Grimes got on base too, Ford got a pass, filling the bases. Nagle put up a high one to Nunzie, who dropped it, letting two in. Lussi sent out a triple to left scoring Ford and Nagle. Blexrud out on fielder's choice to Fogarty, who returned Lussi at the plate. Wesler went out pitcher to first. In the sixth two more runs were made without a hit. The Miners tried to even up but were one behind at the finish. The score:

		R.	H.	E.
Edmonton	010042000—7	8	2
Lethbridge	000500001—6	8	3

Batteries—Blexrud and Ford. Kippert, Schurch and Rogers. Umpire McGuicken.

BASEBALL SHORTSTUFF.

Wagner, of Pittsburg, made six hits in a game the other day.

Fidler claims to have signed catcher Wilkins of Butte, and he is due to arrive this week.

Strathcona's Semi-professional nine will tackle the Edmonton amateurs in Strathcona some night next week.

Taylor, the Calgary centre fielder, has given up the game for good, having secured a government sit at Omaha.

Not even a natural born optimist like Scorer Michael expected to see the Legislators make it three straight from Calgary.

Beylan, late of the Hat, has been signed to second base for the Miners. Wonder where they are going to play Banty Mackin.

The Albertan gets even with pitcher Blexrud for the trimming he handed the Chinooks on Monday, by calling him Mr. Oxblood.

Calgary had better abandon all championship asperations and start in to develop some minor talent, so as to be in the running in 1908.

Patsy Flaherty, of the Boston Nationals, has a pretty jump ball, and he uses it with rare judgment and perfect control. Manager Tenney regards it as one of his strongest assets.

Many a ball player has been brought up short for being a rowdy, but who remembers hearing of a ball player who sold the game or was crooked? In that respect baseball's record can rank with any other pastime in the world.

Strict training rules have been issued to the Chicago White Stockings by Manager Fielder Jones. Every member of the team will have to be in bed by 11.30 o'clock every night hereafter until the championship flag is again within easy reaching distance of the Chicago team.

BIG SCORES POPULAR.

New York, July 11.—Walter Camp, athletic adviser at Yale, has just returned to New York from Europe with his wife. Mr. Camp was abroad about five weeks. While in England he saw a game of baseball between the Rhodes pupils at Oxford and a team picked from leading association football players of England. This he describes as follows:

"The game was the funniest I ever saw. It commenced at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and when I left a little after 6 o'clock they had completed three innings and the score stood 52 to 38 in favor of the students. The attendance was not inspiring in point of numbers, and the enthusiasm at the beginning of the game was noticeable by its absence. The fine points of the game were overlooked, and it was not until the runs mounted up that the spectators, thinking only of the huge scores compiled in cricket, began to warm up. There was a very enthusiastic outburst when the fiftieth run was landed over the home plate. What would happen if two of our crack teams went over there and by close playing neither side scored, is too dreadful to contemplate."

CHANCES PER PLAYER.

A baseball critic, who is long on figures, has doped out to a fraction the average number of chances per game by each player. Of course the first baseman has the major portion, as the appended figures show:

First base	10.6
Second base	5.3
Third base	3.2
Shortstop	5.7
Catcher	5.1
Pitcher	2.6
Centre field	3.2
Right field	2.1

The figures are remarkable in that the centre fielder is shown to get more chances to make put-outs than the other outfielders. The second sacker ranks next to the first baseman. This goes to show that a majority of the hits tear through the centre of the diamond.

FOOTBALL.

According to the official schedule the city league season will wind up on Monday July 15th.

In an exhibition game between English and Scotch elevens at Calgary, on Tuesday, the gate amounted to $78. It goes to the Caledonians to help defray travelling expenses to Winnipeg for the People's Shield competition.

St. Paul's play at Strathcona to-night, their opponents being the B. & K. aggregation. The latter have shown exceptional strength lately and the Saints have their work cut out for them to win.

The News is exhorting Calgary citizens to commence preparations for a suitable reception for the Caledonians when they bring home the People's shield—and the Canadian championship, which goes with it.

Games for the Dominion championship commence on Monday at Winnipeg. Vancouver, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario and Alberta will all be represented.

The hat is going the rounds at Calgary to raise travelling expenses for the Caledonians to Winnipeg.

HOCKEY LEAGUE AGAIN.

Pittsburg Promoters Start Early This Season.

Pittsburg, July 8.—Plans are rapidly being made for the organization of the biggest and strongest hockey league the country has ever known. If the plans of the promoters work out Pittsburg, New York, Boston, Cleveland, Toronto and possibly Columbus will comprise the circuit of the Internatinoal League when the season opens in November.

Rinks are now being built in Cleveland and Boston, and it is practically certain that these two cities, together with Pittsburg and Toronto, wll compose the new league. An effort was made to secure the famous St. Nicholas rink in New York, where the big college games are played, but it was impossible. A well-located rink in Brooklyn is under consideration.

It is the plan of the promoters to play two games in each city each week, doing away with the long waits of four and five weeks between series as was the plan in the old league. The season will probably commence November 15 and close March 15. It is understood that a meeting of the promoters in the different cities wll be held in Pittsburg early in August.

GIRL RIDES WINNER.

Joplin, Mo., July 11.—Before thousands of spectators at Tuesday's meet of the July Joplin Racing and Fair Association, Dorothy Tyler, 13 years old, the daughter of Dr. R. B. Tyler, who once was mayor of the cty, rode Black Marren in a quarter mile dash and won the race handily, the scratches having reduced the starters to three.

The contest in which the girl rode was the first on the card. Attired in blue bloomers, boots, blouse and blue cap, her long hair flying loose, the girl handled the spirited sprinter with the assurance and skill of a veteran jockey during the confusion of the scoring. In the final getaway cleverly reined into the post at the earliest moment possible, and held the lead all the way, doing the quarter in .24 flat.

The girl jockey rode throughout like one long trained in the service. Never for a moment was there the slightest trace of fear or nervousness. Men riders in the race were completely outclassed.

LACROSSE.

Edmonton's next league game will be on August 1st, when Calgary will be the Caps' opponents.

Lethbridge is paying a visit to High River to-day. The Miners haven't been beaten to-date, but the High River twelve are in great shape now and the visitors will have to let themselves out to the last link to keep the winning streak unbroken.

McMillan, the Arnprior recruit, will come in useful for the hockeyists if he decides to winter here.

Ward, who is holding down a place on the defence was with Edmonton last year, and is playing the game of his life.

Strathcona plays in Calgary next Wednesday and already Calgary can see nothing but a great big victory for the Chinooks.

Bethune, who took a look over Edmonton a couple of weeks ago, and returned south a couple of days later, is turning out regularly with Calgary.

The league season ends on August 19th, in the southern district, and on the 28th in the north.

Beckett, another Winnipeg stick handler, has secured a position in Edmonton, and will be here in a few days. He is said to have played great lacrosse in 1906.

Medicine Hat is a great team at home, but when it comes to a trip abroad, there are always three or four of the regulars missing.

No dates have been named yet for the medal series of three games between the Caps and 'Scona.

Jones has been playing inside home a few days this week, on account of the arrival of a brand new girl in the family. He promises to turn out regularly for practice in future, though.

OLD STYLE BEST.

British Riding Authorities Attack American Method.

London, July 11.—King Edward's turf adviser and trainer, Richard Marsh, has come out with the statement that the adoption of the American riding seat has ruined English jockies, and his declaration has caused a stir in racing circles throughout England and Ireland.

Agitation already is in progress here to get the Jockey Club to abolish the starting gate to improve the situation, but there is doubt in some quarters as to whether such a move would have the deired effect. That idea was suggested mainly because the jockeys are unable to control their mounts behind the barrier. This is largely ascribed to the American style of riding, called a "monkey seat" here.

In his statement Marsh further says that numbers of young horses are constantly being spoiled by jockeys riding in this fashion and by exercise boys aping them. He points out that the boys are wholly unable to ride that way and "hold a horse together." He contends that the "Tod Sloan style" has had a far more disastrous effect here than will be generally realized for some time.

Marsh contends that the old-fashioned way of riding, with the long stirrup, such as great horsemen like Fred Archer and George Fordham used, is the right one, and Sam Darling, another English trainer of great experience, agrees with him in condemning the American seat.

TENNIS.

London, July 11.—At the Princess Club this afternoon the professional Tennis champions, "Punch" Fairs giving fifteen, beat Jay Gould of New York by 3-0. The scores were 6-5, 6-5 6-4.

Their Majesties at Races.

Dublin, July 11.—Kind Edward and Queen Alexandra attended the races at Leopardstown to-day, driving to the course from Kingstown in motor cars with an entire absence of formality. The enormous crowd of people present gave their Majecties a notable welcome.

LONGEST GAME ON RECORD.

Also All Other Long-Inning Baseball Struggles Put in the Shade.

Columbus, Ohio, July 11. — The world's record for the number of innings played in a baseball game was made here between the Heintz Victors and the Columbus Selects, two amateur teams. The established record was 26 innings, which lasted for three hours and fifty minutes, and only because the players were exhausted was the game called, the score standing 2 to 2.

GAME CALLED IN THIRD.

Dust Storm Puts End to Calgary-Medicine Hat Game.

Calgary, July 11. — Medicine Hat and Calgary played three innings here to-night but the game was called off on account of a severe dust storm when the score stood 3 to 2 in favor of Medicine Hat. Both teams were playing fast ball and it looked like the promise of a rattling good game. The Hatters were out to win at all hazards, as usual. Harris of that team used some vile language against the fans and the umpire, and was ruled off the ground and fined.

Following is the score:

		R.	H.	E.
Medicine Hat	120—3	4	1
Calgary	011—2	2	1

MULLIN—LAUDER FIGHT OFF.

Calgary Police Will Not Permit Contest. Much Comment.

Calgary, July 11.—A finish was put to the prize fight game in Calgary today, when Ald. Reilly acting on behalf of the police committee, instructed the police to prevent the Mullin-Lauder fight, which was to take place to-night. These contests have been going on for the last few months.

Ald. Reilly stated to your correspondent to-day that the contests were against the law and the committee had decided to put a stop to them. There would be no more fights in Calgary in which recognized prize fighters took part.

There is much comment upon the action, particularly as in this case the stake holder is a member of the police committee. The fight was to be at 157 pounds and the purse was to be forfeited if either contestant failed to make the weight. Ald. Moodie was stake holder for weight and appearance. Much comment is also made because no action was taken until this afternoon, when it was learned that Mullin could not make the weight.

LARGE ISSUES OF RAILWAY BONDS

Union Pacific and Atchison, Topeka, and Santa Fe Contemplate Extensive Improvements

New York, July 11.—A little more than four million of the Union Pacific Railroad Company's new convertable bond issue of $75,000,000 was subscribed by the stockholders, according to an announcement by that company to-day. The balance goes to a syndicate headed by Kuhn, Lobb and Co. Subscription to this issue closed yesterday. It was made against a recent addition of $100,000,000 to the company's capital stock, and the proceeds of it are to be devoted to improveemnts. It was also announced to-day that about $9,000,000 of a bond issue of $26,000,000 by Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Co. was taken by the stockholders. There is no underwriting syndicate needed with the Atchison, but it is understood that the remaining $17,000,000 of bonds will be taken by bankers heretofore identified with the Atchison road. In financial circles the small takings of these offerings occasioned no surprise. In fact they had been discounted some weeks ago. The bond market showed absolutely no investment demand.

Charter May Be Voided.

New York, July 11.—Upon application of Attorney-General Jackson, Supreme Court Justice Platzek issued an order late to-day requiring the Interborough-Metropolitan Railway Co. to show cause why the merger agreement should not be annulled and the charter voided. The order is returnable July 19th. The Attorney-General bases his application on United States District Court Judge Hollis' recent decision in a stockholders' suit that the Interborough-Metropolitan was illegal and that it constituted a monpoly.

Two-Cent Fare Next Month.

Madison, Wis., July 11.—A two-cent fare bill adopted by the State Assembly, passed the State Senate today. The law, if approved by the governor, will go into effect on August 15th.

THE PABLO BUFFALO HERD

The Origin of the Herd Which Is Now at Lamont Is Told by Charles Aubrey in "Forest and Stream—Was a Peace Offering.

"The sale to the Canadian government of the Pablo herd of buffalo, and its removal to the neighborhood of Edmonton," says Forest and Stream, "lends a peculiar interest to the foundation of this herd, which, under its owners—Michel Pablo and Charles Allard—became, after the extinction of the wild buffalo on the plains, the largest herd of buffalo in the United States. Mr. Charles Aubrey, still a resident of northern Montana, has written the history of this herd, and has given details of the fact long known in northwestern Montana, that five or six calves were captured and taken from the plains across the mountains to the Flathead country, by a Pend d'Oreille Indian. What was not known until Mr. Aubrey told the story, is that they were taken over as a peace offering, to pay for an infraction of the rules of the Christian Church by the Pend d'Oreille. Investigations made on the west side of the mountains by Mr. J. B. Monroe show that Sam, the Pend d'Oreille returned to the Flathead in 1878 bringing with him five or six buffalo calves. He ranged his buffalo below the St. Ignatius Mission, between Crow and Post creeks. In 1882 or 1883, Michel Pablo and Charles Allard purchased these buffalo from Sam. There were fourteen head. Sam lived on Crow Creek until 1886, and died that year, leaving a few head of horses as his sole property. His widow afterward married a mixed blood named Alexander Findlay. She died in the year 1901.

"To this original herd was afterward added by purchase the remnant of the herd owned for years by C. J. Jones, formerly of Garden City Kansas.

"The account of the origin of this herd deserves to be preserved as a permanent part of the history of this vanishing race.

Aubrey an Old Timer.

"Mr. Aubrey has been a resident of what used to be called the Far West for many years, having crossed the Missouri in 1862—somewhat in advance, we believe, of the famous left wing of Price's army. He followed up the old emigrant trail along the Platte River in Nebraska, and gradually drifted further and further north, bringing up at last in Montana. There as prospector, miner, trader and ranchman, he lived for many years, and early became familiar with all the wild game and with all the wild people of that then unknown country. He has always felt an especial interest in the buffalo, and in past years he has called attention to the time when the pioneer settlers living in the northern part of Montana lost their entire crops through the ravages of the grasshoppers, and being without food, took their tents and went to the buffalo range, and lived on the buffalo through the winter, saving hides enough to enable them to buy seed in the spring to plant their crops. On one occasion he made an effort to get together a herd of one hundred buffalo calves. Unfortunately, this effort was postponed a few years too long, for it was not made until the year 1883, at which time the buffalo were finally destroyed.

"During his long life on the plains Mr. Aubrey has had much to do with Indians, and has come to understand them, and to know how to handle them better than most men can do. He was for some years a most successful employe of the Government, in charge of a large body of Indians. His story of how the foundation of the Pablo herd was laid thirty years ago, is a very curious one.

Aubrey's Story.

In the year 1877 I was located at the Marias River and engaged in the Indian trade.

A few miles above me, at Willow Rounds, Col. Culbertson, of the American Fur Company, had a winter trading post; below me a wandering trader was located.

This part of the river was a favorite winter hunting ground for the Blackfeet. There was good grass and a variety of weeds for buffalo horses. The river bottom was well timbered, and furnished plenty of fuel and shelter. The high, level prairie to the north was a favorite winter range of the buffalo. The Marias was the main watering ground for all the game between it and Milk River, one hundred miles to the northward.

Close by, and on the north side of the river, some three miles below me, was the great medicine rock of the Blackfeet. All war parties paid tribute to it as they passed. They placed articles of value upon it, and painted it, praying that they might be successful in war. The mothers of families here made offerings of valuables, with prayers to this medicine rock for the recovery of their children in case of sickness, or asked that the unborn child might be a man. Here, in the spring after the winter's hunt was over, was the general point of gathering; here passed the summer route of travel. At that time the soldier lodge was held, and laws and rules laid down for governing the summer's hunt, for friendly visits, and for war also; to protect their range and country from invasion by other tribes. Here they journeyed on their way to the summer hunting ground in the Cypress Hill far to the north. The historian of the future, when writing of the Blackfeet, with an abler pen than mine, will find interesting material in this country.

"The Man In the Middle."

There were three trading posts in this favorably located country. I was called by the Indians The Man in the Middle, for the reason that I was between the other two. My post was called Ft. Custer. All foreign Indians gave me the preference in trade, for the reason I gave them the same tail and trade I gave my own people.

Among the Indians who traded with me that winter were the Sarcees and Stonies, from the far north; the Blackfeet proper, the Kootenais and Klamaths, from toward the Coast; the Nez Perces, Gros Ventres, Assinaboines, Pend d'Oreille and one family of Crows. All tribes were in sympathy with each other, through the effects of the Nez Perce war. This was what brought these strange trade conditions about. I sold one Klamath twelve dozen buffalo tongues at $4 per dozen, as well as a number of fine robes. In his country there were no buffalo.

Among the Pend d'Oreille Indians who made up the hunting party from across the mountains, was an ambitous, bright, middle-aged man—of the warrior class, but not a chief—whose Christian name was Sam. He was known to the Blackfeet as Short Coyote. He was a typical Pend d'Oreille, with the economical turn of those Indians as gathered from their early Christian instructors, Fathers De Smet and Ravalli. I often met Sam in the way of trade, and he indicated more than ordinary friendship for me, caused perhaps by my fairness in trade. My interpreter for the Blackfeet was a three-quarter blood Blackfoot, Baptiste Champaigne. His father was the noted Michel Champaigne, trader and interpreter for the American Fur Company.

Baptiste's wife was a sister of Yellow Wolf, a Blackfoot warrior, still living here. She had a niece whose name was Mi-sum-mi-mo-na, and she being rather a comely girl, had attracted the attention of Sam, the Pend d'Oreille. Same made propositions to her kinsfolk, Yellow Wolf, Champaigne and his wife that he be permitted to marry Mi-sum-mi-mo-na, and offered for her sixteen head of good horses. The offer being very tempting, she became his wife. A short time afterward Baptiste gave me the story of the affair. I told him very frankly that he had made a mistake. He asked my reasons. I said to him: "You are a strong Catholic and your Church does not permit polygamous marriages."

A Terrible Punishment.

By the rules and laws regulating marriage among the Pend d'Oreilles Sam was punishable by both fine and flogging. This punishment is carried out by the soldier band of the Pend d'Oreilles. Baptiste was worried over my view of the marriage. Sam's Pend d'Oreille wife was very much opposed to his second marriage, and appealed to me to talk with him and tell him that he must not go crazy, that the Pend d'Oreilles were taught to have but one wife, while the Blackfeet could have any number they could buy and support.

In course of time Sam's first wife made so many objections, and so continually quarreled with him over his second marriage, that there was no peace in the family. By early spring (1878) feeling had risen to such a condition that Sam shot and wounded his first wife. It was a flesh wound in the shoulder. She was still asserting the rights of Christian marriage. She showed great love and affection for Sam, which he did not appreciate or reciprocate. Conditions were such that the Blackfoot wife, though fond of excitement and war, could not endure the continual strife, and found life in Sam's lodge unbearable.

Baptiste In Angry Mood.

To Baptiste affairs now assumed a serious turn, as he feared for the life of his niece.

In the course of a few days, Sam whom I had not seen for some time called on me. I found him in the condition called by the Indians, "my heart is bad." He had his gun out of its cover and his blanket off. This in an Indian means war. I noted at once that there was a crisis in his affairs, and I signed him to sit down. I sat down beside him, knowing that if he wanted to make a gun play which I apprehended from his actions, I would be close to him, and could close with him and give him an even showdown for the gun. I reasoned with him in the sign language, reminding him that he was alone among the Blackfeet, his people all having gone back home across the mountains. I told him he had made a mistake, but there was time yet for him to make it right, and advised him to come back in two days and I would tell him what I thought best. What I wanted was time, for a wild Indian in his war paint, mad and wanting to kill someone, is a bad customer to argue with. Sam departed without ceremony. He was faithful to my request and returned in two days' time.

In the meantime I had a talk with my interpreter, Champaigne. I found he had counseled with my wife and had advocated a separation of his niece and Sam. This fact had been communicated to Sam, and led him in his now desperate frame of mind, to desire to kill Champaigne, and this was the object of his visit to my store.

Cooled Down.

When Sam returned I found him in a somewhat better frame of mind. I said to him, "When do you cross the mountain to your people?" He informed me that he was lonesome, and wanted to go, but he feared he would be punished by the fathers of St. Ignatius Mission. He had been married at this mission in the Flathead Valley. I carefully went over his affairs and impressed on him the fact that he had violated the law of his people. Now he must be careful and keep out of further trouble. I thought there was still a chance to make peace with the soldier band of his tribe by getting a pardon through the fathers. To that end I would assist him by giving him a letter to Father Ravalli, stating that he (Sam) was not a drunken or lazy Indian. I also suggested that in connection with my letter he make a peace offering to the fathers, in the hope it would lighten the punishment for the marrying the Blackfoot woman. He told me he had nothing to give, and he could not stop the punishment, which I found he dreaded very much. I then suggested that as he was a good hunter, an expert horseman, and could handle a lasso well, he rope some buffalo calves—now nearly a year old—hobble them and keep them with my milch cows. He could use my corrals until they were gentle, he could then drive them across the mountains by the Cadotte Pass, and give them as a peace offering to the fathers at the mission. He looked at me in surprise and doubt. I then showed him that as there were no buffalo in the Flathead country, I thought the fathers would appreciate the gift. He at once said he would try my plan. I encouraged him to go to work at once, and soon saw him arranging for a hunting trip.

Started on His Hunt.

Next day I made a visit to his lodge and found him and his Pend d'Oreille wife hard at work and both in a very pleasant humor. I asked in the sign language of the wife, "Where is the Blackfoot woman?" She informed me in a very curious manner that when the Blackfeet had broken camp, her people had taken her away. I then asked her to help Sam all she could. She smiled and said she would. I asked Sam, "When will you be ready for your trip?" He answered, "In two sleeps."

In answer to my inquiries as to how he proposed to handle the buffalo, he told me he would catch the young buffalo; he would then picket each by one leg at the place where he caught it. He would then take a blanket, peg it down at the ground at the outer limit of the picket line. I asked him why he did this. He replied it would attract the buffalo's attention and keep it quiet; by smelling the blanket it would become accustomed to the smell of man, and would not be alarmed at his approach. He would catch and handle two at one time on the prairie. They would then be driven in and be kept with the milch cows.

Sam was successful on his first hunt and soon drove in two fine calves, then, April, 1878, nearly yearling buffalo—a heifer and a bull. The heifer was loose, the bull side-hobbled. The milch cows did not take kindly to the buffalo, but the buffalo persisted in being friendly. They finally made friends, for after a while the cows ceased to regard them as a curiosity, and seemed to enjoy their presence. Sam rested a few days after his first trip, his wife joining him in telling me the story of the wild chase and the fierce struggles with their captives. The hunt was far away, as the buffalo were already working to the summer range on the Saskatchewan. This would now cause some change in his plans. Being alone, he was afraid of the enemy—the Indians of the North. He would only risk one more hunt, and informed me I could look for him in sight sleeps. If he did not return then he hal been attacked by some war party. In that event he hoped I would make some effort to look him up. When I got up next morning Sam was gone.

Herd Increased to Seven.

True to his promise, he returned at the end of eight days with five young buffalo—two bulls and three heifers. Each buffalo was head and foot hobbled; the head and front foot tied together, with a skin strap two feet long. Each bull was dragging a long lariat, so as to be easily caught for night picketing. Sam was well pleased to find the first two buffalo so contented with the domestic cows. The milch cows objected as before, but the new arrivals took kindly to their new-found friends. Sam told me they had met with no accident. He had worked hard—like a white man, as he expressed it—the rope skinning his hands many times. One could never tell when a buffalo would jump for liberty. He told me of killing one heifer, which he would have liked to have. She had a very fine, bright coat. In a hard chase along the side of a steep coulee, he singled her out of a bunch of cows. He threw his rope and the noose settled on her neck. His horse, a powerful roan, settled for the shock. In snubbing, he gave her too much rope, and in the fall, which came an instant later, this fine heifer's neck was broken.

A Sign to Stop.

His wife advised him to quit now. They already had five on the last hunt and she did not like the signs brought out by the death of this fine animal. She said to him, "This means we must stop."

Sam herded his buffalo with the milk stock for five days, resting and making arrangements for his trip across the mountains. He was feeling satisfied with his work, and hopeful tha his peace offering would be accepted. He told me of his route of travel, and that he would be fifteen sleeps on the way home. Taking a small memorandum book from a parfleche, he showed me where he had six straight marks and then a cross for Sunday. He told me he did not want to start on his trip home on Sunday, and wished to know the day of the week, as he had lost his reckoning. I put him right, and he said he would start on the following Monday.

His buffalo were doing well, and were becoming quite docile. All preparations were made for his departure, and he talked hopefully of getting safely across the mountains. He always impressed me as being an Indian of marked determination, and at no time did it occur to me that he would not succeed in his effort.

On Monday he bade me a cordial good-bye, passing out, his wife and pack horses in the lead. They had discarded the travois with which they usually traveled, saying they could handle the buffalo better with her as a rider. Sam brought up the rear, the buffalo following the pack horses. The three bulls were head and foot hobbled, the four heifers loose; seven head in all is my recollection of the bunch.

Of the trip to the Teton River, to the Sun River, to the Dearborn and up that stream to the Cadotte Pass I have heard no word; of the crossing of these streams at this season, of the trip over the main range, down the Blackfoot River, all trace is probably forever lost. Through Indian sources I afterward learned that on the way over by some accident one bull became disabled and died. Sam arrived safely in the Flathead without further accident to the other buffalo. I also afterward learned, through Indian sources, that immediately upon his arrival upon the reservation he was arrested and severely flogged, by order of the soldier band of his own tribe of Indians. As I understand the story, Sam had no time or opportunity to meet the fathers and tender his peace offering.

In course of time I heard of Sam's death, not in battle as a warrior, but passing away peacefully in his lodge or cabin. His wife following him some time after.

WEALTH OF THE WORLD'S RICH MEN

John D. Rockefeller the Only Billionaire.—18,000 Millionaires in U. S.

Chicago, July 11.—A recent conservative estimate indicates that there are 18,000 millionaires in the United States, but there is only one billionaire—John D. Rockefeller—in the world. The following table, according to all available information, gives a fair estimate of some of the largest fortunes in the world today:

John D. Rockefeller	$1,000,000,000
Rothschilds, Eng.	800,000,000
Andrew Carnegie	500,000,000
Duke of Westminster	350,000,000
William W. Astor	250,000,000
Fred'k Weyehauser	200,000,000
J. P. Morgan	150,000,000
Gould family	150,000,000
William A. Clark	150,000,000
John Jacob Astor	100,000,000
Thomas F. Ryan	100,000,000
E. H. Harriman	100,000,000
James J. Hill	100,000,000
Wm. K. Vanderbilt	100,000,000
William Rockefeller	100,000,000
Henry C. Frick	100,000,000
Henry H. Rogers	100,000,000
Clarence H. Mackay	100,000,000
Mary W. Walker	100,000,000
Bertha Krupp von Bohlen	100,000,000
Mrs. Russell Sage	80,000,000
D. O. Mills	75,000,000
Henry M. Flagler	60,000,000
Henry Phipps	60,000,000
John D. Archbold	60,000,000
Alfred G. Vanderbilt	50,000,000
James B. Higgin	40,000,000
James Stillman	25,000,000

The late Marshall Field was much the stamp of successful investor as John D. Rockefeller. Had he lived to witness the development of his tremendous investments Mr. Field might have acquired the ambition to become the rival of Mr. Rockefeller. As it is, the $100,000,000 which Mr. Field left on his death, less than two years ago, has grown to probably $125,000,000, and doubtless will leap, if kept intact, in the course of a few years to the proportions of a billion.

One of the nearest rivals of John D. Rockefeller, and a man whose wealth is growing rapidly, is the Duke of Westminster, an English gentleman, born wealthy and with the gift of accumulating money. Another fortune that is growing apace, despite the expenses and the obstruction of expensive legislation, is that of the late William Weightman of Philadelphia, which was inherited by his daughter, Mrs. Mary Weightman Walker. Other women who are sufficiently wealthy that they may be considered capable of traveling in the Rockefeller class are Bertha Krupp von Bohlen, daughter of the German gun maker, whose estate is estimated as being worth well over $100,000,000, and Louise, Queen of Denmark, who is one of the richest women rulers in the world, her wealth being estimated close to $50,000,000, and growing rapidly.

But practically all the fortunes mentioned have been the result of generations of luck, saving, shrewd investments or of martial wringing from the pockets of unwilling subjects. The wealth of John D. Rockefeller, while many may declare it has been wrung from an objecting public, is none the less a monument to the energy, the farseeing, the frugality and the industry of a master mind, a general in the wars of finance who, like Napoleon, is born, probably once in a thousand years.

THE SEVENTH DAY ADVENTISTS IN ALBERTA.

Preparing to Build a Big School in the Vicinity of Bentley, Near Lacombe.

The Lacombe Advertiser tells of the activity of the Seventh Day Adventists in the vicinity of Bentley. A monster camp meeting is being held there at the present time.

Some may ask who are the Seventh Day Adventists, and what do they believe? Says the Advertiser: Without stopping to enter into a lengthy argument, we will only say that as their name signifies, they are firm believers in the soon coming of the Lord, and while they do not believe in setting any date for that event, they have abundant reason to think they are in the last days. They also believe in observing the Seventh Day Sabbath, not because it is Jewish, but because it is according to the teaching of the Bible in both testaments.

They are temperate people, discarding all alcoholic liquors, and tobacco. They also discourage the use of tea, coffee, and flesh meats, from a hygenic standpoint.

In Canada they have conferences organized in all the provinces except Saskatchewan, with a union conference in Eastern Canada, and a new one soon to be organized in the Western Provinces. They have an excellent school system which reaches both the youth and little ones. A system of sanitariums that reaches around the world, has been established for the care of the sick which is recognized by leading medical men as one of the best in the world.

Their work began in Alberta some eight years ago, by sending one minister and his family, who located at Leduc. Since then other laborers have been added, believers have been multiplied, churches organized, and at their camp meeting in Red Deer last year a conference was organized, of which the meeting in Lacombe is the second session.

They have a well equipped sanitarium located on Third street, south of Jasper avenue, in Edmonton, which is receiving a liberal patronage from the public and the hearty support of the medical fraternity of Edmonton. This institution is known as the Alberta Sanitarium."

This conference is now planning to build a large school somewhere along the C. and E. line, the location of which is soon to be decided by a committee to be appointed at this meeting.

The Light That Most Nearly Resembles Sunlight

There's no artificial light used that can begin to compare with that given out by acetylene.

Acetylene more nearly resembles sunlight than any other known commercial illuminant.

And we all know that sunlight is the only perfect light.

Therefore, the nearer any artificial light can be made to resemble sunlight, the more nearly perfect it must be.

Sunlight is the standard by which we judge the true tone of colors.

Any artificial light, which shows up colors differently from what they appear under sunlight, is unnatural.

Colors can be matched, and their true shades defined, quite as well under acetylene as under sunlight.

More than this, plants grow almost as well under the influence of acetylene as they do under sunlight.

No other known commercial illuminant can make these claims.

There are different grades of acetylene—depends upon the quality of the carbide used.

S Calcium Carbide is the best.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING

Council Approves of Commissioners' Report in Reference to Namayo Avenue Paving Complaint—War of Words Between Three Aldermen.

The City Council undertook to share with the commissioners the responsibility for the cessation of the work of paving Namayo avenue, and for the extension of the paving on McDougall avenue two blocks beyond that called for in the by-law authorizing the paving of this street. The report of the commissioners on the complaint of the residents of Namayo avenue was adopted unanimously. The subsequent discussion of the subject, however, was of the acrimonious variety. Aldermen Gariepy and Walker crossed swords and said things. Alderman Manson also figured in the heated debate.

The Commissioners' Report.

Before replying to the condemnatory charge brought against us in regard to the regrettable suspension, for the present, of the proposed paving and track-laying on Namayo avenue, we deem it advisable to relate the facts in connection with street paving initiated by the city council of 1906 and put into operation by the present year's council and the action of the commissioners in carrying out instructions either laid upon them advisedly or forced upon them by untoward circumstances, with the full knowledge and consent of the legislative body representing the ratepayers.

At meeting No. 41, June 28th, 1906, City Engineer R. R. Keely, at the request of the council, submitted an estimate of cost for the paving of portions of Jasper avenue and First street with creosote blocks or asphalt, on which no action was taken. At meeting No. 65, October 16th, 1906, another report from City Engineer Keely was submitted, accompanied by a letter from W. H. Harvey & Co., Vancouver, offering to supply carbolineum blocks to the amount of 30,000 square yards if offer was accepted by October 25th, 1906. Mr. Keely strongly recommended this paving material and approved of the price. The following resolution was adopted on motion of Aldermen Griesbach and Calhoun:

"That in the opinion of the council it is desirable that Jasper avenue from Namayo to Fourth street, Namayo avenue from Jasper to Sutherland, and First street from Jasper to C.N.R. tracks be paved and that the commissioners be instructed to report on same with an estimate of cost."

Alderman Calhoun also suggested that Harvey & Co. be requested to extend their time to 10th November, which was approved. Report of commissioners No. 161 was submitted at the following meeting (October 19th, 1906), which report was laid on the table for further consideration. On October 23rd, 1906, the commissioners were instructed to wire for a further extension of time to November 15th, which was allowed by telegram submitted at meeting on November 1st, at which meeting a telegram was read from Mayor May, who was then in the east, asking council to withhold decision until his return as he had a report to submit as a result of his inquiries.

Mayor May's report was submitted on November 9th, strongly recommending bitulithic pavement. At the same time tenders were submitted from the Warren Bituminous Paving Company (for 50,000 square yards of bitulithic) and the Kettle River Quarries Company (for creosote block). Decision, however, was withheld. On November 14th, 1906, a decision was arrived at and the following resolution was adopted on motion of Aldermen Griesbach and Latta:

"That Jasper avenue from Ninth street to Kinistino be paved with bitulithic pavement, and that First street (Jasper to Isabella), Namayo avenue (Jasper to Sutherland), and Macdougall avenue (Jasper to Elizabeth) be paved with carbolineum wood blocks, and that the necessary notices be given, by-laws brought down and proceedings taken to enable orders to be placed."

The solicitor was also instructed to draw agreements on the understanding that they would not be binding till confirmed by the burgesses. These instructions were carried out as reported by commissioners' report No. 173, November 17th, 1906, submitted at meeting on 20th November. This report dealt with street railway track laying in conjunction with paving, recommended a method of apportioning the cost between the city and the property owners, and suggested as a time-saving measure the circulating of petitions for signature by property owners to be affected thereby. This report was adopted and acted upon. The by-law was also submitted and provisionally passed at this meeting, the date of voting being fixed for Monday, the 17th December. When petitions were being circulated the property owners on McDougall street altered their prayer to read "from College to Isabella street," and when this was pointed out to the solicitor he decided that the latitude allowed in the by-law was sufficient, if the council should approve, the more especially as it was highly improbable that the whole of the contemplated work could be accomplished during the present season and continuation and extensions would no doubt be undertaken next season, necessitating the submission of a new by-law then.

At meeting No. 78, on December 11th, petitions for paving the following streets as local improvements were submitted and read:

1—McDougall street, from College to Isabella street, 14,815 yards.

2—Jasper avenue, from Kinistino to Ninth street, 43,000 yards.

3—Namayo avenue, from Jasper avenue to Clark street, also from Clark street to Sutherland street, 14,385 yards.

4—First street, from Jasper avenue to Isabella street, 10,600 yards.

It was moved by Aldermen Calhoun and Smith and carried: "That these petitions be granted, the work to be carried out as soon as the city is in a position to do same, and provided that all water mains and sewers are laid upon said streets."

The commissioners proceeded to lay out the work to the best advantage, it being the intention then to have the bitulithic paving first done on the central portion of Jasper avenue and the block paving on Namayo avenue, and the engineer was instructed to push forward the water and sewer service connection work. With this object in view service connections on Namayo avenue were carried on during the winter under the most adverse weather conditions. Our intentions were frustrated largely by these weather conditions, and when the contractors were ready to commence operations this spring, to avoid unreasonable delay to them, we were compelled to accept the engineer's advice and start them on Jasper avenue west of Fourth street and on McDougall street north of Elizabeth street. We did not regard this, however, as entailing any serious consequences, as we anticipated then carrying on the work for the whole season to the full capacity of the contractors in such a manner as to obtain an equalization by close of season. Namayo avenue was being prepared with a view to starting work there immediately after work was completed on DcDougall from May to College; some trouble was occasioned on McDougall by building operations at Telephone Central and Imperial Bank, and the necessity of keeping the street from Jasper to College clear during exhibition week, to overcome which the work north of Elizabeth street was put in hand first. When the present financial stringency was brought home to us first and a limitation of bank credit was put upon us, it became necessary to so arrange our affairs that our liabilities should be met as they became due and it was immediately apparent that drastic measures must be adopted and our undertaking curtailed wherever possible. To accomplish this we took up the question at once with both paving contractors, as any departure from the written contract could only be made with the consent of the contractors. The bitulithic people insisted upon finishing Jasper avenue from First to Ninth street, and as their demand seemed fair and reasonable we accepted this. We found the Harvey Company harder to deal with. Mr. Harvey was here personally on June 27th and 29th, about the situation, as he had incurred liabilities on the strength of this contract which would seriously affect him if he was not placed in a position to make good. After he had time to fully consider the matter, he insisted upon being allowed to complete McDougall street to Isabella street on the north and to College avenue on the south, and that the city should pay for the surplus 20,000 square yards of blocks still to deliver (the output of his mill contracted for entirely on our account and now thrown upon his hands for a whole season, upon the security of which he was financing his business) as the only terms upon which he would agree to the suspension of the contract without indemnification. He positively refused to do any work upon Namayo avenue unless he was to be allowed to continue it for the balance of the season. This we had to accept as his best terms. Both contractors have been requested to slow down their work so that there may be no cessation and the disbursements on account might be spread over a longer period, carrying them into September.

A special informal meeting of the council was convened on the 1st July, when the situation was laid fully and fairly before the aldermen present, who unanimously agreed to the acceptance of these terms. We are sorry to learn now that some of the aldermen present appear not to have fully understood the terms of settlement, although all had an equal opportunity.

To recapitulate and in answer to the charges in the order in which they are set forth, your commissioners say:

(1) That with reference to the statement that your commissioners have disregarded your decisions and set at nought your authority is absolutely untrue.

2) That owing to the fact that water and sewer mains had been laid on Namayo during the winter and that the work required to be almost entirely done over again in the spring, Namayo avenue was not in as good condition as McDougall street for paving, and upon the recommendation of the city engineer the work was commenced on McDougall street

(3) With regard to the statement that the commissioners deliberately ordered the work to begin one block further north, at May street, and that the commissioners have authorized more work to be done than was covered by the original by-law, we desire to point out again the fact that the work that has been done and which is now going forward is authorized by a petition from the residents abutting on the property affected and assented to by your honorable body, and that the by-law is so drawn as to permit of such extension when undertaken upon petition as above set out.

(4) With regard to the statement that while endeavoring to retrench the matter of expenditure your commissioners gave a contract for new work on McDougall street. The matter is fully covered by the explanation hereinbefore given and referred to in paragraph 3 hereof and in the statement of facts set forth in the foregoing.

With regard to sub-paragraph "b," your commissioners say that with reference to the portion of McDougall street referred to, the residents there and the council have passed upon the same and the transaction is legal.

With regard to sub-paragraph "c," your commissioners would say that if the state of Namayo avenue is not all that can be desired it is one of the unfortunate circumstances growing out of the financial position in which the city finds itself, and in any event before Namayo avenue can be paved the sewer trenches will have to be thoroughly filled in and tamped, and when that work has been completed, as is being arranged for, your commissioners believe that the street can be made sufficiently passable to be satisfactory to the users thereof, at an early date.

With regard to sub-paragraph "d," that the paving on McDougall street, where the work is now going forward, is absurd, your commissioners would say that whether it is absurd or not is scarcely the point at issue, inasmuch as the city is legally bound to have it done, and it rests upon the city to carry out its agreement with the contractors, and the city can only escape liability in the matter by mutual understanding with the various contractors.

With reference to the concluding paragraph of the complaint, your commissioners would say that they fully realize that in carrying out the policy of retrenchment decided upon by the council much trouble and annoyance must necessarily arise, and since some portions of the work contemplated must be left undone, many residents of the city will feel that they have a grievance against the administration, but it is the business and the duty of your commissioners to carry out the instructions of the council in the best interests of the city, irrespective of the criticisms of those who feel that they have been discriminated against. It is readily admitted that the paving companies were ready and willing to undertake and complete work in all directions, but the ability of the city to pay for the work is the whole question, and the readiness and willingness of the contractors to do the work was one of the serious difficulties to be confronted by the commissioners in their endeavors to obtain a satisfactory settlement of the whole question without indemnifying these contractors for the work which they were ready and willing to do, but which we asked them to lay over until next year.

Your commissioners would further state that in the complaint laid before you, while the commissioners are referred to in terms of somewhat unnecessary harshness, the actions complained of are not the actions of the commissioners, but the actions of your honorable body, and your commissioners would further urge that in the present financial stringency and in carrying out the policy of retrenchment decided upon by your honorable body, the utmost firmness and courage should be shown by those who are responsible for the handling of the city's financial resources, and the commissioners expect, and feel that they have a right to expect, the support, confidence and consideration of your honorable body at this time if beneficial results for the city are to be achieved.

Motion to Adopt.

Ald. Picard moved the adoption of the report. Ald. Manson seconded the motion and neither of them made any comment.

"Why was this work not started at Isabella street instead of May?" asked Alderman Anderson.

He was referred to the report of the commissioners to the clause attributing the change in the plans to the telephone building operations.

As a matter of fact, was the street ready for paving north of May street?" asked Alderman Picard for the purpose of strengthening the contention that the commissioners worked to best possible advantage.

Engineer Keeley said in answer to this leading question that the sewers were not yet laid north of May street, when the paving work on the southern portion of the street was commenced.

Provided for in By Laws.

Another point was raised when Ald. Macauley asked, "is the council within its rights in undertaking this additional work without the consent of the ratepayers?"

"Yes. This point is covered by the by-law," replied the city solicitor. "It is a question of extension under petition and under the approval of the council. This is permissable under the by-law, and in this case there was both the petition and the council's approval."

"Why was work started in Namayo avenue at all, when it was known the city was face to face with a financial stringency?" asked Alderman Walker.

"The stringency was not apparent when the work was started, and the contractors were merely carrying out their contracts," replied the mayor.

A Question of Words.

"I have been informed that the contractor was asked to start work on Namayo avenue when the work was temporarily stopped on MacDougall avenue during the 'Fair,'" said Alderman Walker.

"Who was your informant?" asked the Mayor.

"The representative of the Bitulithic Co."

"That gentleman is here. Let us hear what he has to say," put in the Mayor.

The representative stated he was asked to discontinue work on MacDougall, and asked that he might commence work on Namayo. The commissioners did not ask him.

"That's merely a juggling of words," said Alderman Walker. "Instead of the Commissioners asking the contractor, the contractor asked them. That is not the question. The question is that the work was approved, when it should not have been.

Cheap Notoriety, Says Manson.

Ald. Manson interposed at this juncture, and declared that he regretted the north end of McDougall avenue was being paved and Namayo side-tracked temporarily, but if a mistake had been made it could not now be undone, and it was not becoming of the Council to repudiate its action, and try to shift the responsibility of discontinuing the work on Namayo to the commissioners, when, as a matter of fact, the discontinuance of the work was brought about by the financial stringency. Some aldermen, he declared, were endeavoring to get some cheap notoriety out of the incident.

"I have no objection to the north end of McDougall being paved," said Alderman Anderson, "but I think someone is to blame for the digging out of Namayo avenue, and leaving it in its present impassable condition."

On Financial Situation.

Ald. Walker took occasion to question the advisability of the widespread publication given to the fact that the city was feeling the financial stringency. He pointed out that until now Edmonton had occupied a unique position in the eyes of the outside world by reason of the fact that while other cities had suffered from the pinch this city had been immune.

Ald. Gariepy took decided umbrage at this statement and declared that if it had become known that the city was feeling the stringency, Ald. Walker was solely to blame. He recalled the informal meeting held by the council at which it was agreed among the aldermen not to say anything about the curtailing of the public works, but because some mistake had been made in reference to the paving contract on McDougall avenue Ald. Walker had considered it enough to let the cat out of the bag. Ald. Gariepy also remarked that Ald. Walker has presented the spectacle of swallowing himself. He had severely criticized the commissioners in the Namayo avenue paving affair, and had then turned around and voted in favor of the adoption of the commissioners' report defending its action.

Ald. Walker's Denial.

Ald. Walker said in answer to Ald. Gariepy that he regretted he was not a lawyer in order that he might intelligently follow the calisthenics in which Ald. Gariepy had indulged. He denied having given publicity to the city feeling the stringency and referred to having advised the newspapers of the city not to give the difficulties which at present confronted the city too much prominence. The men who had proclaimed from the house tops that the city was feeling the stringency were the mayor and Commissioner Kinnaird.

"When did I say anything of that kind?" asked his worship.

"You gave an interview to the papers."

'I did not, and you can't produce any such interview in print."

"Yes, I can, and I will at next meeting of council."

Ald. Manson's Opinion.

Ald. Manson did not treat the publicity of the financial stringency with any apprehension.

"The citizens should know," he said, "what we are doing. This city isn't going on the rocks. It will complete all the public works it has undertaken but it will do them slower; that's all there is to it. I know that when the citizens learned that the council had inaugurated a retrenchment policy, that there was a marked falling off in the petitions for sidewalks and sewers. The people are looking at the question sensibly."

At this point the discussion was dropped.

Alderman Daly asked the representative of the Bitulithic Company why he objected to paving Namayo avenue, and the reply was that the city hadn't the money to pay for the work.

Ald. Walker's Answer.

"Alderman Manson seems to have the idea," said Alderman Walker, that he is the only alderman who is disinterested in this question. He's mistaken. I think none of us have to go after cheap notoriety. We are not here to censure or discharge the commissioners, but there has been a mistake, and, while all of us grasp the fact that the mistake cannot be undone, still we should know who is responsible for the mistake. Public money has been lost by the starting of the work on Namayo and the discontinuance of that work, and we must guard against a recurrence of such a mistake."

At this point the Mayor undertook to shaw that if as a result of the financial stringency the commissioners were to be condemned for the starting of public works, and the discontinuance of them since the retrenchment policy of the city was inaugurated, there would be no difficulty in finding many excuses. As an instance he cited the fact that the excavation for the west end fire hall had been made, but now no more work would be done on it this year.

It was stated that Namayo avenue would be put in passable condition, and that the preliminary work toward the paving done before the halt was called, would not be a loss.

The report was then unanimously adopted, and the engineer was instructed to prepare a report as to the manner in which Namayo avenue might be put in passable shape.

ROLLER SINKS ON NAMAYO.

The steam roller broke through the street at the corner of Namayo and Jasper avenues this forenoon, and now stands tilted to one side. The accident was caused by the undermining of the sewer which had not been properly filled in when being constructed, with the result that a large unfilled space remained. When the heavy weight of the roller passed above, it naturally broke through. No damage has been done the machine which will likely have to be raised by means of jacks.

The sub-committee, consisting of Mrs. Ferris and Miss Little, named to select a suitable building, presented their report at the committee's meeting last night. No quite satisfactory building has yet been discovered, but two or three are under consideration, and further negotiations will be carried on in this matter. It was decided, however, to procure at once rooms in the centre of the town, where lunches may be served to girls at work in the business part of the city. In connection with it will be a reading-room and rest room.

ALBERTA BEST OF ALL.

Mr. J. L. Studholm, manager of the Great West Saddlery Co., arrived home last evening from a two months holiday trip through Canada and the United States. Mr. Studholm had a pleasant trip and says that the prospects for a good year everywhere he has visited are excellent. The crop prospects in Ontario he says are good and the fruit yield is very promising. But nowhere has he seen a better crop prospect than in Alberta.

Mr. Studholm thinks that the reports of a financial stringency are apt to be exaggerated as he sees no justification for a shortage of money on business grounds and is confident things will right themselves before long. The western country has been developed at such a rapid rate that the demand for money is greater than the present supply and new capital must be brought into the country to even matters up.

Mrs. Studholm and family are spending the summer at Kenora, Ont., on Coney Island, Lake of the Woods, and will not return to the city until September.

SHOT DAUGHTER'S SEDUCER.

Mrs. Bowie Admits Without Hesitation Killing Her Unfaithful Nephew.

La Platta, Md., July 11.—Priscilla Bowie, the young woman on whose account her mother and brother shot Hubert Posey, last January, took the stand to-day at the trial of Mrs. Bowie and her son Henry, and sobbingly told the story of the events leading up to the tragedy. When she had finished her narrative she was on the verge of collapse, and a large portion of the spectators who crowded the court room were in tears. Mrs. Bowie preceded her daughter in the witness chair, and without hesitation declared that she and her son fired the shots, one of which ended Posey's life. Young Posey she said, was a cousin to her children.

"He had been going regularly with my daughter for four years," she continued, "and when she was seventeen years old he asked her to marry him when he became twenty-one."

Mrs. Bowie declared she heard Posey himself make the promise. This was after her daughter's condition had been revealed to th emother. Last Thanksgiving day as the time set for the wedding, but Posey did not appear. The witness then described the meeting with Posey on the day of the shooting.

POST OFFICE CHANGES.

Owing to the fact that the street postal delivery is rapidly growing it has been decided to cut out boxes 1 to 759 and they are now being removed as rapidly as possible. Those of the box holders in these sections who wish to retain boxes will be allotted new ones in the otrer sections. No hardship will result owing to the abolition of boxes 1 to 759 as they would not be transferred to the new office and a change would then have to be made if not at present.

Those now holding boxes from 759 up will not have to make any change in their numbers. The removal of the above sections will give greatly increased and much needed room at the rear of the present building.

Postmaster May says the street delivery is working very satisfactorily though there is no appreciable difference in the amount of work in the office as yet.
